

Unemployment Relief Bill Wins Approval In Assembly, 59-25

BUT HOUSE CUTS AMOUNT IN TWO PRIOR TO VOTE

Amended measure Sent to Senate for O. K. on $2,500,000 Fund.

Madison—(P)—The Fons-Goodland unemployment relief bill, its $5,000,000 fund cut in half by a substitute amendment, was approved by the assembly late yesterday, 59 to 25.

The bill was immediately messaged back to the senate where the amendment, introduced by Assemblyman Harold Groves, Madison, must be approved before the measure is sent to the governor.

In amended form, the bill carries an appropriation of $2,500,000 from the state general fund July 15 to the emergency commissioner created for relief purposes by the new highway law. The planned surtax on incomes, which was a part of the original measure introduced by Senators L. C. Foss, Milwaukee, and Walter S. Goodland, Racine, is postponed until next year.

The appropriation would be allotted to cities, towns and villages to relieve unemployment. A surtax of one-fourth the usual rates on all incomes would be levied to return the money to the general fund. Allotment would be governed by the emergency commissioner who would aid localities in accordance with existing unemployment and their willingness to match the state funds with local appropriations. Because it stresses importance of his unemployment commission, it is assured the governor favors the Groves plan, but senate trouble is predicted over the same feature of the amendment.

Object to Amendment.

Speaker Charles B. Perry and Assemblyman E. G. Smith were the most vigorous objectors to the Groves amendment, contending its distribution features were faulty. Assemblyman Robert Nixon opposed the original measure on the same premise.

"Distribution of funds under the Foss-Goodland bill is automatic," he said. "Rich communities having little or no unemployment and needing no aid would get substantial amounts under the plan. The Groves amendment avoids this through leaving distribution to the discretion of the commission."

The bill as passed by the senate sets up a system of distribution under which localities would draw aid on the basis of their income tax payments and population. It is optional whether the money be used for public improvements or directly to aid the poor. The surtax returns under this bill would place a heavy burden on the industrial cities along the lake shores as they are the hardest hit by unemployment and also have large income tax returns.

EXPLAINS THEORY ON CAUSE OF DROUGHT

Cold Air from Polar Regions Sidetracked, Scientist Believes

Washington—(P)—If you remember the heat last summer, you probably will agree with W. J. Humphreys of the weather bureau, that the flood of cold air usually flowing over the United States from the polar regions got sidetracked.

It's his latest theory that this was one of the causes of the 1930 drought.

Humphreys just completed a study of world weather conditions for last year and found the cold currents picked a path over the Atlantic east of Greenland and swept Europe. Very few took the preferred avenues down the Mackenzie river in Canada and the Mississippi valley in the United States.

That accounts for much of the stagnation of air, he says, which was the cause of the drought. Rainfall is caused by rapid cooling of a large quantity of warm, moist air. Usually this occurs from the interaction of cool and warm air currents, the warm flowing over the cold or, in other cases, the heavier, cool current forcing its way under the lighter, warm current, elevating it and causing it to cool.

Generally speaking, there is a continual interchange of warm air from the tropics and cold air from the polar regions. But when the cold currents went off on a path to Europe last year, the United States was left with nothing except continued heat.

On the other hand, Humphreys said, heavy rains occurred in northern and western Europe and over the Atlantic. Rains also fell in Canada, where high temperatures had advanced farther northward than usual by this reversal of form on the part of cold air currents.

COMMITTEE INSPECTS SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS

The group met at 12:45 in the chamber rooms before starting the trip. The chamber of commerce maintains, inspects and repairs these signs on the highway which direct people to Appleton and present facts about the city. Those who made the trip were William Hahn, Wayne Jones, James Balliet, Kenneth Corbett and Earl H. Elchelt, Herbert Satterstrom is chairman of the committee.

Breaks Leg

MAJOR RAMON FRANCO

MAJOR FRANCO HURT IN MADRID MISHAP

Platform Collapses While Aviator Is Making Political Speech

Madrid—(P)—The stormy political career of Major Ramon Franco, Spain's only transatlantic flier and a candidate for the national assembly, was interrupted today by a broken leg.

He was delivering a campaign address at a theatre in Toro del Rio, near Seville, last night when the platform buckled and buried him under a mass of planks. He was dragged out by members of the audience and taken to a first-aid station where it was found he had suffered a fractured right leg and lacerations of the body.

His bosom friend and mechanic, Senor Rada, and an army captain also sustained minor injuries in the accident. Major Franco was suffering such pain that he could not be removed to a hospital in Seville. X-rays of his injuries will be taken later on.

The major's misfortune solved a perplexing problem for the government. Only a few hours before it happened the ministry of interior had ordered him to cease scattering leaflets from his plane calling on the voters to support the "republican revolutionary party" in the elections on Sunday.

He has frequently attacked the government in campaign addresses, accusing it of being reactionary and demanding sweeping radical reforms. More than that, in his capacity as a pilot, he is prohibited by law from active participation in politics—a problem which the government feels has been settled at least temporarily.

INVESTIGATE GIRL'S STORY OF KIDNAPING

Bloomington, Ill.—(P)—Authorities were today investigating the story of Beulah Adams, 18, who claims she has been held captive since June 18 when she was kidnaped from her home in Mason City, Ill.

The girl said that while walking down a Mason City street she mistook two men for acquaintances and entered their automobile. Other than being fed irregularly, she said she was well treated. The girl was discharged from the car at the outskirts of Bloomington, she said.

ASK POLICE TO LOOK FOR MISSING MAN

Police here have been asked to assist in the search for John Nielsen, 35, of Jackson, Mich., who disappeared from his home on June 10 and has not been heard of since.

A reward of $50 has been offered for information which will lead to finding the man. Nielsen is between five feet four and six inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and has blue eyes and light brown hair. He is of a timid and retiring nature and is much interested in radio and television.

THINK SPEAKEASIES SELL STOLEN FAGS

Chicago—(P)—C. L. Jellinghaus, superintendent of property protection for the New York Central lines, believes the speakeasy is the commonest outlet for stolen cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.

Addressing the annual meeting of railway police last night Jellinghaus said speakeasy proprietors, "already in an illegal business" were "logical buyers" for the $300,000 worth of tobacco stolen in 1930.

MELLON SEEN AS FACTOR IN DEBT DEBATE

Secretary Expected to Help Iron Out Controversy in Paris

Washington—(P)—Washington looked today to Secretary Mellon for a contribution toward solution of the delicate situation that has arisen over the moratorium proposal.

Official acceptance of the principle that had been received from all the larger powers involved, with the biggest rough spot in the immediate road being France's counter proposition.

Secretary Mellon has been "vacationing" in England. Facts and figures he obtained in a series of conferences with officials there played a considerable part in President Hoover's decision to offer to suspend war debt and reparations payments for a year.

And now Mr. Mellon, through in England, is extending his "holiday" to France.

Diplomatic circles here felt positive that the secretary of the United States treasury would discuss the French attitude with the proper officials. There were expressions of hope that possible objections could be met without involving the United States in European politics.

The immediate difficulty, more than anything else, appeared to be desire on the part of France to retain the unconditional reparations payments for actual war damage. The French note was held secret here, but no one denies that unconditional reparations were involved.

On this point, however, President Hoover said in announcing his plan that the United States would suspend collections on war debts due it provided the other interested powers agreed to a holiday from "all" intergovernmental payments.

So far the situation is as follows: Germany accepted the proposal gratefully and unconditionally. Great Britain approved it in spirit as well as in letter.

Italy endorsed it, cordially and completely without "political" reservations.

Austria approved unconditionally. Bulgaria expressed appreciation. France submitted the counter proposition.

Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland and Belgium are "sympathetic" but have made no official response.

The general optimism here that an agreement will be reached soon so as to improve Germany's economic condition was expressed by Senator Watson, Republican senate leader, after a talk with the president. He said:

"It looks as though, after some details have been worked out, that success will attend the effort."

After receiving the French answer, Secretary Stimson also said "I am very optimistic," adding "it would be a crime if anything happened."

Nevertheless, the general opinion was that the French proposal would be unacceptable unless it could be so framed as not to conflict with the president's offer. Stimson said yesterday the "broad outlines" of the president's statement will "not be departed from."

Meanwhile, federal reserve board and treasury officials continued an effort to improve Germany's economic situation through a credit arrangement.

WORLD ROTARIANS HEAR REPORTS AT CONCLAVE

Vienna—(P)—The Rotary International today listened to a report on separate language assemblies and to speeches by Axel E. Endstrom of Stockholm, on international cooperation in science, and Abraham Foreman of Berlin, on the international aspect of unemployment. Yesterday the Rotarians were received by the president of the republic in the ancient imperial palace.

ELEVEN MEASURES KILLED BY SENATE

Upper House Working to Clear Calendar for Coming Adjournment

Madison—(P)—Speeding up the calendar as the contemplated close of the legislative session neared, the senate yesterday killed 11 measures in rapid order.

Most of the measures were checked off via the indefinite postponement route. The Young bill for a scientific crime detection institute at the University of Wisconsin; the Rolands bill to abolish the present banking department and establish a finance and credit commission; and the bill for an interim committee on automobile, health and accident insurance, were among those killed.

A senate measure to make certain employers pay costs of administering the Workmen's Compensation act and Assemblyman John Grob-schmidt's resolution to permit naming of more than one supreme court justice at the same election were killed. The Malchow bill creating a municipal council within the Public Service commission met a similar fate.

A resolution petitioning congress to submit to the states a resolution for the repeal of the 18th amendment was concurred in as well as resolutions requesting the state highway commission to determine the feasibility of making scenic highways along the Mississippi, St. Croix, Chippewa and Flambeau rivers.

A bill prohibiting manufacture or sale of compound cheese unless it contains 75 per cent pure cheese gained approval as well as the Groves bill appropriating $5,000 to the industrial commission for establishment of credit unions to handle small loans. A bill allotting Wood-co $862 for money paid the state by mistake, also passed.

Very optimistic," adding "it would be a crime if anything happened."

Nevertheless, the general opinion was that the French proposal would be unacceptable unless it could be so framed as not to conflict with the president's offer. Stimson said yesterday the "broad outlines" of the president's statement will "not be departed from."

Meanwhile, federal reserve board and treasury officials continued an effort to improve Germany's economic situation through a credit arrangement.

QUICK ACTION NECESSARY ON DEBT PROGRAM

Moratorium Proposed Only in Time to Prevent Collapse of Germany

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co. Washington—(P)—Little by little the facts are leaking out about the emergency which prompted President Hoover to move quickly in his announcement of a debt holiday proposal, even before there was time to obtain an agreement from France.

Few people probably can visualize the danger that lurked over the financial world last week, as short time credits up for renewal in foreign lands were about to be withheld from the German Reichsbank and other financial institutions. Had such a step been taken, the collapse of Germany would have been perhaps irreparable. The nervousness of financial communities over the world was known to the governments involved. It was time for quick action.

The delay which the president would have liked was intended to sound out other governments and announce a complete accord. This might have taken a week for negotiation. As it is, the French are in agreement in principle on a plan for suspending debt payments but they naturally wish to look beyond the step now being taken. So far as the United States is concerned, it cannot at this time make any predictions or promises; but anybody who understands Germany's present condition and her taxing problem realizes that what the Germans cannot pay this year they can hardly be expected to pay 12 months hence.

No Mere Postponement Already the dispatches from Germany indicate that the German people are not going to be content with a mere postponement and that real relief waits on a reconsideration of the whole debt structure in Europe.

The fascists led by Adolf Hitler and some of the nationalist groups in Germany will insist upon some concrete evidence of a revision of the debt because they know this will be difficult to grant at once and will keep their political lines intact in the German Reichstag.

For the moment America is biding time, waiting for France to come forward with an acceptance that will be tangible. It is deemed inconceivable that France will fail to agree to the debt suspension, though, to be sure, the plan to keep on making

YESTERDAY ANNUAL BATH DAY FOR ALL JUANS OF MEXICO

Mexico City—(P)—The Juans of Mexico rose bright and clean today.

The annual bath day was celebrated at public bath houses and swimming pools yesterday and all men named John took to the water, in many cases to the accompaniment of orchestras.

It is a rigid custom in Mexico for Juans to apply soap and water to their bodies on St. John's day and even those who ordinarily shun such practice participate in the annual festivity. Leading bath houses and pools hired orchestras for the occasion and all public cleansing places were gaily decorated with banners and flowers.

Sport festivals and banquets were provided in the army barracks, as St. John's day is a high spot in the life of the Mexican doughboy, who is known as the "Juan."

Building Permits

Two building permits were issued Wednesday by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to Carl M. Zschaschner, 520 W. Fifth-st., addition to residence and remodel, cost $900; and Schmidt and Zeh, gasoline and service station, 202 W. Wisconsin-ave, cost $3,225.

payments to the Bank for International Settlements will, if insisted upon, make Germany's situation almost as difficult as if the sums had been paid over to the allies. What France is suggesting is that Germany keep on paying to a central source but that the funds be reinvested in German loans.

This would insure perhaps a continuation of German measures of economy but it would fail to afford the relief in taxation which is straining German industry today and from which there must be a lightening of burdens if Germany enterprises are to get capital in other countries.

There are many important steps to be taken before the enthusiasm which met President Hoover's proposal of a year's debt holiday can be justified, and this to some extent accounts for the conservatism that has followed the first outburst of joy; but this is only another way of saying that when all the obstacles have been removed, the world will breathe an even greater sigh of relief than it did when the proposal was first announced that all governments suspend payment for a year on war debts.

Opposition To Income Tax Usually Limited To Growls

Washington—(P)—The opposition of the average American to the amount of income tax levied by the government is confined almost entirely to a few growls.

The internal revenue bureau collects $24 out of $25 of income taxes without a contest—other than grumbling.

The taxpayers usually try to obtain a reduction in the remaining dollar by petitions to the board of tax appeals for a redetermination of the amount due.

The records of applications which the board include such oft-heard names as Senator Couzens of Michigan, "Eddie" Ruth, Gloria Swanson, Rogers Hornsby, Almee Semple, McPherson, Ralph Capone, and Conrad Nagel.

More than 50,000 others have carried their complaints to the board during the seven years it has been in existence. The amount of money involved has totaled more than $1,000,000,000.

The board arbitrates the differences of opinion between the taxpayers and the Internal Revenue bureau. Frequently it allows reductions. More often it does not.

Recently, the number of petitions received has averaged slightly less than 300 a month. It usually requires three or four months to dispose of a case. There are 20,000 applications pending.

During the last fiscal year 4,369 petitions were received. The total tax in controversy was $100,057,766. Income tax collections by the Internal Revenue bureau aggregated $2,410,259,230.

One of the cases the board has decided was the appeal by Senator Couzens from an additional assessment of approximately $10,000,000 on sale of stock he owned in the Ford Motor company. Couzens was upheld in a decision handed down in 1928.

The board, created by congress in 1924 to handle tax disputes in order to decrease court work, is directly under President Hoover. Its decisions are reviewable by United States Circuit Courts of Appeals.

While the amount of income tax paid by individuals and corporations cannot be made public by the internal revenue bureau, this information is available as soon as a petition for reviews is with the board of tax appeals. All records there are open to the public.

CREDIT LOAN TO REICHSBANK IS BEING PLANNED

$100,000,000 to Be Advanced to Tide Institution Over Till July

Berlin—(P)—Negotiations are under way among the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Federal Reserve bank and the Bank for International Settlements to grant a short term credit loan of $100,000,000 to the Reichsbank to tide it over the end of the month, it was learned today.

The reason why such credit is needed is that while the menacing light of capital has been reversed and gold is flowing in instead of out, the process is not likely to be rapid enough to equalize before June 30 the loss of approximately a billion marks of the Reichsbank's reserves. It was emphasized, however, that this temporary assistance over a technical difficulty does not depend on the Hoover war debt plan. Reports to the effect that the loan already has been granted are premature.

The precarious situation into which the finances of the Reich had drifted was graphically illustrated in today's Reichsbank report which covered the week ended last Saturday—in other words up to the point when President Hoover stopped in.

The Reichsbank's gold cover for bank note circulation Saturday stood at 40.4 per cent which was 0.4 per cent above the minimum prescribed by law.

How serious this was is evidenced by the fact that only a month ago the gold reserve was 68.4 per cent.

The Reichsbank is confident that in a month it will be back at least to about 68 per cent coverage, thanks to the Hoover proposal.

STILL INVESTIGATE FIRE AT RAIL DEPOT

Officials Grill One Suspect; Fire Marshal's Office to Be Notified

The incendiary fire, which Wednesday night caused damage estimated at $3,000 at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad depot on S. Oneida-st., was still being investigated this morning. Fire Chief George P. McGillan launched the investigation after he became suspicious when he noticed that the fire started underneath the building. He was assisted yesterday by a detective representing the railroad company. Today the chief planned to notify the state fire marshal of his suspicions. He said it is likely that a deputy state fire marshal would arrive here soon to assist in the investigation.

The chief has several clues and yesterday a suspect was grilled. He furnished an alibi which is being checked.

SELL ENROLLS IN SCHOOL TENT CITY

County Agent to Attend Summer Sessions at State University

Gus Sell, Outagamie-co agent, is among the 60 registrants for the summer session at the University of Wisconsin, who are making preparations to combine the attendance at lectures and discussion sessions with the pleasures that are afforded as residents of the tent colony on the shores of Lake Mendota. Mr. Sell plans to leave for Madison next week. He will be accompanied by his family, who will camp with him.

Many of the colonists have families and it is not unusual that both husband and wife are in the same classes while their own children are learning to swim or are gathering information about birds, flowers and bees.

Fifteen of the campers are returning for their fourth year or more of summer schooling. Twelve have attended the short session as tent residents at least one year before.

The colony, founded in 1912 by Dean S. H. Goodnight, now has 49 canvas dwellings. Accommodations are limited to out-of-town men and women with modest incomes. All the necessary officers for a formal city government are to be found. Restrictions are few, however, and quiet hours, except on Friday and Saturday nights is the most important.

Programs and stunts are put on by various members at weekend social campfire meetings of the colonists and a community picnic is held some time during the session.

LESS THAN WEEK LEFT TO PAY INCOME TAXES

Less than a week remains for Outagamie-co residents to pay their income taxes, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. Tax bills were sent out several weeks ago and payments have been very heavy since that time, although the treasurer said it would be impossible for her to make an estimate as to how many had paid. The final date for payment is July 1. After that date delinquents must pay a penalty of 2 per cent plus a tax of 1 per cent per month.

10 CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED IN COUNTY

Ten cases of contagious disease were reported from Outagamie-co in the week ending June 20, according to a report received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, from the state board of health. Seven of the cases, five of chicken pox and two of measles, were reported from Appleton. The village of Black Creek reported two cases of mumps and the town of Ellington reported one case of mumps.

Fourth Ward Paving Problems Discussed By Common Council

BITULITHIC IS SELECTED FOR S. ONEIDA-ST

Assessments of Benefits, Damages Referred to Public Works Board

Fourth ward paving problems played the major role at the council meeting Wednesday night, holding the center of the stage almost steadily throughout the evening. First it was S. Oneida-st, then Kernan-ave, and finally South River-st. The Kernan-ave argument brewed a bit of bittered bile, which may have been the direct result of tight collars around warm aldermanic necks.

Eleven property owners, out of 57 on the street, appeared at the public hearing on the selection of the type of pavement for S. Oneida-st. Most of the interested parties were property holders being assessed 50 cents a foot for the pavement. They felt that the proposed covering of the street would not be permanent, and that in a few years they would be faced with the necessity of paving again, this time without the assistance of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. They asked for assurance that there would be no further assessment for paving, pointing out that 14 years ago when the brick pavement was laid they had been told that their paving worries were ended. Mr. Goodman explained to them that the state law provides that property cannot be assessed beyond the $3 square yard limit, and that they had paid $191 a square yard for the brick pavement. E. H. Bass of the Caulfield Construction company told them that the blacktop pavement laid over the brick would last for at least 25 or 30 years, with little or no maintenance costs.

Blame Double Tracks
Some of the property owners feel that the street would not be in its present condition if it were not for the presence of the double tracks on S. Oneida. Others pointed out that the Power company plans to pay for only 14 feet of the pavement instead of 17 feet, four inches. Some were opposed to removing the tracks, saying that it would weaken the street, and that the tracks should be left in. Generally the feeling was that the street is in reasonably good condition and that it is unfair, at the present time, to force the improvement on the property holders.

Most members of the council feel that with the city paying $7,700 of the cost, the Power company should pay the balance of $5,000, and the property owners only 50 cents a foot, that S. Oneida-st residents are getting fair treatment, and that to lower the assessment any further would place the city in a position where it could not place even reasonable assessments for the paving of other streets.

By unanimous vote of the 10 members of the council present warrentite bitulithic was selected as the type of pavement, and the matter was referred to the board of public works for the assessment of benefits and damages.

Referred To Committee
The fourth ward alderman felt that the city would be acting a bit "cheap" if it refused an improvement costing about $75 on a street already to be paved. The matter is in its present condition, due mostly to the location of the golf course in that locality, they felt that the city should bear the expense of repairing it. Alderman Phillip Vogt reminded the council that it is the third request for the repair of Kernan-ave in the past three years, and that continued scarifying is just a waste of money unless the street also is oiled. Alderman C. D. Thompson closed the argument with the statement that the only thing to do is to decide upon a uniform policy for the changing, scarifying and oiling and give Kernan-ave the same treatment as any other street. The matter was referred back to the street committee.

The South River-st grading, termed a "horrible situation" by Alderman V. H. Heinemann, was left to the board of public works. The widening of part of the street has made it impossible for several property owners to drive into their yards from the street. Raising the grade is being considered as a remedy, most of the council feel that it would be much cheaper to raise the grade of the intersection at the corner of S. Lawst and E. South River-st was also placed in the hands of the board of public works, with power to act.

Discusses Assessment
The council suggested to the assessor that property be assessed at 80 per cent of its true valuation this year, after the completion of the revaluation. For years Appleton property has been assessed at 60 per cent, one of the lowest percentages in the state. The council felt that it would more nearly conform with the state law, which provides for a 100 per cent assessment, and yet at the same time stay far enough below the full value assessment to allow for any variation in property values which might result from changing conditions.

The effect of the revaluation on the city's bonding powers and on its tax rate were discussed. A communication from the C. R. Meyer Construction company, asking that it be considered as a local bidder on city construction work, was placed on file. The letter, accompanied by a petition from 15 Appleton citizens, pointed out that the

SAFE BULL PADDOCKS PROTECT FARM LIFE

County Agent Says Stronger and Better Pens Are Gaining Favor

More and more the safety bull paddock is gaining in favor with dairymen. This may be due to the fact that the paddock provides an absolutely safe place in which the herd can be kept where they can obtain necessary exercise without endangering human life, according to Gus Sell, county agent.

Too often it has been the gentle bull that has proved to be the most dangerous as experience has shown. The safety paddock finds ample reason for its building for the safety feature, alone if for no other, although the advantage to the dairymen of saving the good herd sire made possible through its use is not to be overlooked.

Because much of the construction of these paddocks is done during the spare days of the in-between season several Outagamie-co. dairymen may plan to begin work on paddocks this summer. Where salvaged from, such as boiler flues are to be used in their construction, S. A. Witzel, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, has found that it can be obtained from the original owners at junk prices ranging from $2.50 to $10. per ton while several times that price is frequently asked where it must be obtained from the junk yards.

A model paddock can be seen at Johnson's farm, where it was built this spring under Witzel's supervision.

FARM BOARD ASKED TO CONTINUE OLD POLICY

Washington (AP)—Mid-western clamor "they" lead the farm board to talk over its wheat sales policy again. "Any one interested in the construction of a safety bull paddock may obtain complete plans by writing the county agent's office for Stencil Circular 110" which gives detailed plans for building.

The board's affirmation of its March 23 policy of handling stabilization wheat supplies "in such a way as to impose the minimum burden on domestic and world prices" has prompted more criticism from growers and traders.

The White House and the board have been told the policy is not defensible. Some continue to see a pledge the wheat will not be sold for a year.

DEPUTIES DANCE IS ATTENDED BY CROWD

More than 300 couples, attended the benefit dance for Outagamie-co. deputies at the Niflingale ball room, highway 41, last night. The proceeds of the dance will be used for purchasing uniform equipment for the deputies. The committee which arranged for the dance was composed of Charles Steidl, Peter Van Oudenhoven, Jay Bushy, Chet Heinrich, Walter Gresenz, Jack Frezny, Roy Bishop, E. Klebenow, Fred Frank, John Lappen, Jr., Henry Pingel, Art Stranner and Peter Blanshan.

The company has been working in Appleton and vicinity for 10 years, that 15 of its foremen live in Appleton, and that there are 78 Appleton people on its payroll.

Bids for the paving of W. Washington-st were referred to the board of public works. The hearing on the type of pavement will be held next Wednesday evening at the regular council meeting.

The city attorney was asked to investigate the ordinance controlling Class B licenses. Class B licenses are for the retailers and manufacturers of soft drinks and do not permit the product to be consumed on the premises. Fifteen Class A permits, one theatre, one bus and two draymen's licenses were granted. The flat rate paid by the Fox River Bus company for the operation of its buses will be investigated.

Church Asks Rebate
A request for a rebate for 1929, 1929, and 1930 taxes charged to property owned by St. Theresa church was referred to the rebate committee.

The council decided to place a calculating machine, valued at $350, in the assessor's office for one month on trial.

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad company will be asked to move the island signal at the corner of College-ave and Memorial-dr west of the tracks, the change to be made under the direction of the board of public works.

The culvert on the north side of the South River-st at the ravine east of Lawst will be extended 10 feet. A four foot fence will be built on the west side of the "Fifth" ward park, between the Fisher property and the park. The request to widen the corner of Oneida and Lincoln-st was not granted.

FARMERS, CITY PEOPLE SHOULD WORK TOGETHER

Plea for Cooperation Is Made at Outing at New London

BY W. F. WINSEY
The present, past and future of cooperative marketing of farm products by farmers and cooperation between rural and urban people were the principal subjects discussed by speakers before 1,500 persons at the first annual picnic of the business men of this city and local farmers, Wednesday in Allen's grove, west of New London. The speakers were: Herbert M. Knipfel, of the Federal Farm board; W. L. Witte, of the State department of agriculture; Markes; and Thomas O'Connor, president of Pure Milk Products Cooperative. The speakers furnished the educational part of all-day program.

The New London high school band played the program in the forenoon and afternoon. The exhibits and sale of local 4-H clubs, with 50 calves of the leading breeds, exhibited in the show ring on the grounds in competition and in parade about the grounds presented a very popular attraction. A calf judging contest in which boys competed for honors held the crowd from start to finish.

The three most exciting features of the program were a running horseback race, a pony race, and a barrel automobile race. A tug of war with 12 business men on one side and 12 farmers on the other, and other divided the audience into two factions and caused deafening cheering from the one faction and then from the other as the tide of battle surged from one direction to another. Thomas O'Connor was the winner of the tug of war, and the judges of the calf races, and the judges of the calf exhibits were W. D. Brownson, Shilcote, and E. A. Hutchinson, Clintonville.

Here Are Winners
The winners of first, second and third premiums in exhibits of 4-H calves in each breed and division are as follows: Gladys Guiney calves—Oliver Schultz, Bear Creek was awarded first prize; Gladys Handschke, Hortonville, second prize; and Elmer Knitt, Clintonville, third.

Senior Guernseys—Elmer Knitt, Clintonville was awarded first prize; Erwin Handschke, Hortonville, second; and Harriet Hoffman, Bear Creek third prize.

Junior Holstein Calves—Orville Huebner, Clintonville, was awarded first prize; Orville Jude, Marion, second prize; and Derwood Bohren, Bear Creek third prize.

Senior Holstein Calves—Clarence Kroll, Clintonville was awarded first prize; Orville Huebner, Clintonville, second prize; and Harry Bilek, New London, third prize.

Senior Jersey Calves—Martin Fischer, Clintonville, was awarded first prize.

Junior Jersey Calves—Oswald Jude, Marion, was awarded first prize; Martin Pletz, Marion, second prize; and Martin Fischer, Clintonville, third prize.

Champion Jerseys—Martin Fischer was awarded first prize; and Ar. D. Jude, second prize.

In the calf judging contest of 4-H Club boys and girls, Orville Huebner, Clintonville, drew first prize; Elmer Knitt, Clintonville, second; Clarence Kroll, Clintonville, fourth; Harold Hoffman, Bear Creek fifth; Frederick Hoffman, Bear Creek, sixth; Orville Jude, Marion, seventh; Oliver Schultz, Bear Creek eighth; Victor Handschke, New London, ninth; and Erwin Handschke, New London, tenth.

After the calf judging was completed by the 4-H Club members and the 4-H Club members, the club members lead their calves in the parade about the race track.

The winners of the prizes in the automobile race were—first, George Elise; second, Eldo Thomas; and third, Roman Krause.

The winners of the prizes in the Shetland pony race, which five ponies entered were, Chester Hendricks, first; Ray Kleg, second; and Leonard Thomas, third. Dave Nolan was thrown twice in the two mad dashes around the track. At finishing the first round of the track the jockeys dismounted, picked up a sack of potatoes, mounted again with the load of potatoes and were off on the home stretch.

In the bareback horse race, Bernard Maarsch won first place, and Kenneth Egan, second place.

The tug of war by the business men against the farmers the farmers came out victorious in each of two trials, the first facing the business men team were: Robert Bartholm, Herman Austin, David, Harvey Egan, Roy Aklin, H. Spearbraker, Mr. Ziemer, E. Gehrke, W. Comstock, E. Gehrke, W. Raschko and R. McMahon. EXAMINE TWENTY AT CHILDREN'S PICNIC

Dr. Taylor of State Board of Health Has Charge of Work

Twenty children were examined by Dr. Elizabeth Taylor of the state board of health at the child clinic at St. John's school, Little Chute, Wednesday. Dr. Taylor was assisted by Miss Marie Klein, county health nurse, and several Little Chute women. No exceptional cases were revealed by the examinations and the doctor and nurse gave in and after the examinations and care of children.

The clinic was one of several being held in the county. The next clinic will be held July 29, at Hortonville and another at Little Chute is scheduled for August 26. The Little Chute clinic again will be held at St. John's school.

"Clinics are not for sick babies," Miss Klein said Thursday. "Mothers who pass up the examinations with the remark 'My baby isn't sick' are wrong in the knowledge of the work. Clinics were held for all babies, well or ailing. Oft times a seemingly well baby may be suffering from some ailment that will not make itself known until it is too late. Finding these babies and giving hints for proper care of well children is the purpose of the clinics."

The route being free from railroad crossings.

Another meeting to discuss the project will be held next week at which representatives from all valley cities and towns affected in Outagamie-co and Brown-co will attend.

EX-DEPUTY ON WITNESS STAND IN 2 SLAYINGS

Crosby Defends Guess at Trial in Shooting of Mexican Youths

Courthouse, Ardmore, Okla.—(AP)—Cecil Crosby defended today his fellow former peace officer, W. E. Guess on trial for the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio and Manuel Garcia Gomez, young Mexican college students.

Crosby, the first defense witness, testified he told the youths Salvador Cortes Rubio, their companion, that he was a deputy sheriff and that he wrested a weapon from Emilio before the lad was shot to death by Guess.

Detailing events leading up to the shooting on a dark residential street here June 7, when the three Mexicans had stopped their car while waiting for a friend, Crosby said he and Guess had been looking for automobile thieves.

His statement that he identified himself as an officer conflicted with testimony given yesterday by Salvador Cortes Rubio, a prosecution witness.

Crosby said he did not see the actual shooting. He illustrated by slapping his hands together the "three fatal shots fired by Guess."

Crosby also is charged with the murder but Guess is being tried first. The "little, red-faced" officer who with Guess has resigned pending outcome of trials, repeated his story of driving, with Guess up to the youths' parked motor car. He told of getting out and regaining Salvador, slugging a few feet away from his machine.

"I told them we were deputy sheriffs," he said.

When he began to question Emilio seated in the parked car, Crosby said he looked down and Emilio had a gun in his hand. Crosby struggled with him, he said, and disarmed him. Meanwhile, Gomez emerged from the car and Guess, who had been seated in the officer's machine, alighted.

Guess, who claims Cortes Rubio has drawing a gun when he shot him, was to be the last defense witness.

On cross examination, Crosby said Salvador "acted courteously." He waited, he said, until he talked to the boys in the car to question them about themselves. They asked him "what business of mine it was?" He reiterated he told them he was an officer.

The youths told him they were students, he said.

The firing, he said, started "on the other side of the car," just after he had disarmed Cortes Rubio. Gomez was shot first, after he had emerged from the car.

Jack Stone, a prosecution witness, told of seeing Gomez dead on the pavement and Emilio in the machine.

There was a package of cigarettes near Gomez's hand, said Stone. Other witnesses said there was a pistol near his hand.

E. M. Stackpole said he saw Guess turn a flashlight into the car where Emilio lay dead and obtain a small gun from the boy's clothing. Earl Benton, Oklahoma City, testified Guess took a pistol from Cortes Rubio's "right-hand pocket."

APPLETON MAN GETS LETTER MAILED TO HIM 12 YEARS AGO

Uncle Sam is slow, but sure. Twelve years ago Harlan Hackburt, now an attorney in Chicago, mailed a postal card to John Harriman, 327 W. Packard-st. The card arrived Monday, June 15, as casually as though it had been mailed the day before. The card, mailed by Mr. Hackburt from St. Louis, where he was visiting, had a St. Louis postmarked dated July 14, 1919, and an Appleton postmark dated June 15, 1931. It bore a two-cent Washington stamp. It was addressed to Mr. Harriman at Perry-st, "which in recent years has been changed to Packard-st."

CITY SWELTERS AS SUMMER RETURNS

Somewhat Cooler Is Forecast for Appleton and Valley Tonight

From summer to fall to summer seems to be Appleton's lot this week as far as the weather is concerned. The cold north winds of the early part of the week suddenly shifted to the south Wednesday noon and with the change came clear skies and a mercury sailing for high altitudes.

Wednesday night was a typical summer night with a few clouds but no rain and Thursday's sun sent the mercury upward at an early hour which with the lack of wind and moisture in the air made the day one of the most uncomfortable of the season. The mercury at noon recorded 88 degrees on the shady side of College-ave.

Local thunderstorms are expected by nightfall and probably will help bring the mercury down, Thursday night and Friday are expected to be fair. The highest temperature recorded Wednesday was 84 degrees, the lowest this morning 70 degrees.

The summer temperatures sent hundreds of people to the lakes and stone quarry for swims while many others spent evenings in parks and most the night out of doors to get relief.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY IS FOR ALL WOMEN

DIVIDEND PAYMENT MAY NOT IMPAIR CAPITAL OF FIRM

Law Prohibits Payments of This Nature to Protect Business

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York—Unearned dividends
may be paid out of surplus only when there is sufficient surplus in available form, that is to say in cash or in items that may be quickly turned into cash. Dividends may never be legally paid when the payment would impair capital. Corporations with large liquid resources have been known to revamp their capital structure in order that they might be able to disburse a part of their cash to their stockholders.
Even if there is enough cash to pay dividends, a conservative board of directors will not allow declarations to be made if they would impair the company's capital position.

Companies vary in their need of a large working capital. When the business allows of a quick turnover, with no large amount tied up in inventory and with a moderate amount of bills receivable, it is unnecessary to maintain so large a cash balance. Ordinarily, public utility companies and railroads can operate with a moderate amount of cash but, on the other hand, an automobile manufacturer must have large liquid resources. Sugar producers doing a seasonal business having to advance moneys to planters must have an abundant supply of cash. All of these factors are to be taken into account when the investor is estimating the probabilities of a corporation continuing a dividend rate in times of depression.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"CANCER"

If June 26th is your birthday,
the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 1:15 p. m. to 3:15 p. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 3:15 p. m. to 3 p. m.
and from 9 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

The astrological influences in force on June 26th are of a calm nature, and this should prove to be a propitious day for the ambitious, energetic individual. The astrological influences are of too neutral a nature to defeat determined efforts.
The child born on this June 26th will possess a rather strong personality, and inclined to be a trifle obstinately self-willed. This, however, will be offset by a very loyal and loving nature. A desire to accomplish and execute will be another characteristic.

Born on June 26th, you have a tremendous gift for making and holding valuable friendships. You, however, only lavish your attention
upon people who are in sympathy with your ideas, and in this way
you yourself to be rather selfish.
You are very headstrong and independent, and low in variety in your work and pleasure. This desire for variety has caused you to travel and have many interesting experiences, and as you have an observant and quickly assimilating mentality, you have succeeded in becoming a brilliant and interesting conversationalist.

Your career will be very successful, and what you will accomplish will be entirely through your own initiative. You work better by your-

47,000 BADGERS HAD NO JOBS WHEN CENSUS WAS TAKEN

1,129,546 Wisconsin Persons Had Gainful Occupations

Madison—(AP)—Nearly 47,000 Wisconsin persons, fully able to work, were out of a job when the fifteenth census of unemployment was taken in April, 1930, the bureau of census, U. S. department of commerce, reported today.

According to information received here, Wisconsin has a population of 1,129,546 gainful workers, the report adding that at the taking of the last census 4.2 per cent of this number were looking for work. Persons having jobs but on lay-off without pay, exclusive of those sick or voluntarily idle numbered 17,094.

"The greater part of the unemployment returns for Wisconsin was made up of those persons who were unemployed in the strictest sense of the term, being out of a job, able and willing to work, and looking for a job," the bureau announced. "The second division included many persons who were working on part time, and were therefore better situated than those having no jobs at all."

"The question as to whether a man has a job or not, proved to be a difficult one to answer, and the second group included many persons who had not been laid off from their jobs for long periods, some of whom were practically in the same position
as those in the first division."

A survey of the four Wisconsin cities having a population of more than 50,000 revealed Kenosha was the hardest hit in 1930. Nine and one-tenth per cent of the city's gainful workers were looking for work, Madison was lowest with 3.8 per

Mild

HARSH tobaccos require harsh measures, like parching, to make them tolerable to the throat.

But the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended are naturally mild and gentle. Parching would only ruin their exquisite flavor and aroma.

No matter where you buy Camels you will find them always in factory-fresh condition.
Their rare flavor together with their natural moisture is air-sealed-in by moisture-proof Cellophane. We call it the Humidor Pack.

This protective wrapping is dust-proof,

No stinging particles of peppery dust to irritate the throat; no brackish smoke from stale tobacco; no burnt tongue from the hot smoke of dried-out cigarettes.

Just the cool, mild fragrance of choice tobaccos expertly blended and properly con-

If you are not a Camel smoker, switch

"OUR LAND OF THE FREE"

Dr. William J. Cooper who occupies the position of federal commissioner of education delivered an address recently on "Our Land of the Free" in which he made searching inquiry into the danger of our national institutions by reason of amendments to the federal constitution made during periods of "emotional excitement."

In reference to the Eighteenth Amendment the doctor, as if to ward off the usual attack, asserted that he is "politically and personally dry" but, nevertheless, is awake, as are many others with the same views toward alcohol, to the grievous wound we have inflicted upon our national institutions by this amendment.

Dr. Cooper is particularly opposed to the centralization at Washington of further power and aptly described the means whereby we have jeopardized our "guarantees of liberty," albeit honestly.

He described the forces that bring about this centralization as "hiding behind the most meritorious causes and aided by national organizations whose purpose is the highest public good" although they take a course in disregard of long established and thoroughly proved theories of government in order to accomplish their pet or particular purpose.

With reference to the Eighteenth Amendment he said:

"Obviously the proponents of that amendment were considering chiefly the merits of their cause. They did not foresee such other implications as a transfer of vast police powers to the United States government."

To which it might be added that any such policy, however high the motive behind it, cannot, from the very nature of things, succeed in improving the situation.

Despite Dr. Cooper's obviously good purpose in his discussion he must expect shortly to be denounced by the Anti-Saloon league and branded as an alcoholic. Such has been in many instances the unreasonable attitude taken against those who realize and deplore the havoc of alcohol, but prefer keeping the nation intact and steady upon its well charted course than to throwing away security for the decision of any social problem, however vexing.

THE POOR OLD SKINFLINT?

Many Europeans, as well as a few expatriated home folks, are prone to think of Uncle Sam as an old skinflint, pinching the nickels and "honing his razor to hack out a pound or two of flesh."

At the same time this international "Shylock" has been pictured as a round individual, of exceeding obesity and extreme girth—an inflated financial colossus.

According to Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, our Uncle Sam has, on the contrary, "been a business benefactor to the world on a truly mammoth scale." Since 1914 Americans have loaned to foreign countries twenty-three billion dollars and have invested abroad another five billion. In the last nine years an additional fourteen billions of American money has found its way to foreign countries in the form of tourist expenditures, immigrants' remittances, charitable contributions and other items. Many millions have been lost through foreign failures and suspensions of payment by foreign governments. These facts should cause our foreign friends to envisage the American national figure with a few more notches in his belt.

We virtually cancelled Europe's war debts and have been trying to collect only the amounts loaned since the war. Even these debts have been funded at extremely low rates of interest. Another notch would be shown taken up in the old man's belt if our foreign friends would but change the convexity of their spectacles.

And now may President Hoover's latest charitable expression of a moratorium of all inter-governmental debts bring back to them the vision of a long, lean and lanky Uncle Sam.

"An old man broken with the storms of state

"Come to lay his weary bones among ye;

A MISLEADING STATEMENT

Senator Capper emphasizes the fact that this country imported a quarter of a billion dollars worth more of agricultural products than was exported. On the bald statement of fact it might seem to indicate a bad state of affairs for the American farmer, already burdened with an over-abundance of his own stock of goods.

The Wall Street Journal, however, in analysing the figures, shows where such a statement may be subject to misrepresentation. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930 imports listed under the head of "agricultural products" amounted to $1,878,208,000, or about $400,000,000 more than the similarly classified exports. Ninety per cent of these imports were products we do not produce at all, or else in limited quantities only. The balance of ten per cent represents products which we both export and import.

The principal items of import are crude rubber, silk, hides, skins and wool; also many products of tropical climes which are not grown in this country.

Hides, for instance, are imported for the leather trade. If we produced all we tanned, meat would be so cheap the live stock industry would be ruined. Wool and sugar are not produced here in sufficient quantities for our needs. Tobacco imports amount to forty-seven million dollars, but at the same time we export twice that amount.

Senator Capper's statement might make good campaign material for speeches advocating increased tariff protection for the American farmer, but looking behind the statistics would indicate that said farmer had no serious occasion for alarm.

That extra four hundred million dollars we send out of the country gives our foreign customers funds to purchase other goods of which we have a bounteous supply, thereby stimulating exports.

AN AID TO TRAFFIC

A noteworthy improvement in motor transportation is the growing practice of relocating United States highways so as to avoid passing through the business sections of cities. On the endorsement of the Bureau of Public Roads markers are being changed to carry the tourist traffic around the outskirts wherever possible. New roads being constructed are now laid out to avoid congested areas, thereby adding to the rapid flow of through traffic.

Until recently there has always been a community desire to route tourists through the retail business districts, it being deemed a source of additional business to merchants. But actual results have not met expectations.

There is too much traffic. This increasing volume has actually been a detriment to the main streets, as it has been found necessary to keep the traffic moving so that those who really have a desire to trade find it inconvenient to do so. The added congestion makes parking increasingly difficult so the visiting motorist is content to pass on his way with only a window picture of what the city has to offer. Surveys also show that residential and business property on streets carrying through traffic actually show a decrease in value.

Diverting through traffic from the business sections relieves streets already congested by the city's natural traffic. Besides it will be an additional boon to American motor tourists in that they will not have to drive through the crowded business districts of the cities and towns along their routes.

Opinions Of Others

THE MARRIAGE BUSINESS

Alarmed at the possibility of competition in the easy divorce business, members of the Nevada legislature propose drastic methods to retain the popularity of Reno. Arkansas has a new law permitting a divorce after a residence of ninety days and Idaho's legislature is considering a similar measure. Senator Bush, of Nevada, has introduced a bill to make mail-order divorce legal. "If the purpose," says the senator, "is really to bring speedy comfort to the divorcee seeker, need only write a Nevada district judge of his or her intention, retain an attorney by mail and present evidence by deposition." While Nevada Indians, by its failure to enforce the marriage laws, contributes to the problem by encouraging hasty marriage, Chicago judges have complained that the Crown Point Gretna Green, where hundreds of Chicago couples go to be married, and where the officials reap a rich harvest in fees, puts an extra burden on the Cook county courts. The law has said for more than fifty years that a marriage license shall be issued in the county where the woman resides, but some county clerks pay no more attention to it and the marrying couples scramble for the business. Early in the present session of the legislature a bill was introduced to require applicants for marriage licenses to wait two weeks before the licenses were issued. It was killed on recommendation of Judiciary A committee—Indianapolis News.

A COUPLE of fellows were flying to Berlin as they had left England already. The old Lindbergh habit apparently lingers. Ruth Nichols says she's going to try her flight again. She failed in one of the most rudimentary parts of flying—landing her ship. She had a swell alibi for the crack-up which put her in the hospital and sent the ship back to Detroit for repairs. Says Ruth—"mistake was made in attempting to land a fast ship on a small field. The setting sun partially blinded me."

And they gave Lindbergh another honorary college degree not long ago. That makes about three or four, including the one they gave him at Madison. And it wasn't so many years ago that the Colonel was asked not to come back to school at Madison because of his grades.

The American mayors are home and had themselves a quiet time over in Europe. It's nice that they could enjoy themselves, but the American ambassador will probably have a swell time trying to live them down.

Probably the only reasonable question which has arisen since Prexy Hoover announced his debt moratorium plan is—"Will Europe start yelling for more after a year is up?"

THE MARTINS

The Martins are peculiar and whimsical at best. They're very charming tenants if with you they choose to nest. But though the house you build for them may perfect seem to be You cannot coax them into it if something wrong they see.

I do not know precisely what the Martins ask from men: I only know they like a house with rooms for eight or ten, And it must stand above the ground, full of dirt, feet or more.

With unimpeded space about for them to wheel and soar.

The neighborhood must suit their choice; the gardens must be neat, Nor will they stay to raise their young along a noisy street.

And many a man has built a house their fellowship to win Which for some cause, to him unknown, they would not enter in.

The scouts came on in early spring to look the houses over, And if they do not like the place you'll see their charms no more.

But should the home their fancies suit, within a day or two The Martins will arrive to spend the summertime with you.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

DENTISTRY AT PUBLIC EXPENSE

Says a writer in Public Health Reports:

"It is believed by health officers who have included dental hygiene as a routine part of their public health programs, that there is no phase of work which is more popular with the public, especially with the people of the rural areas, than is the dental hygiene program."

The "dental hygiene" this federal office alludes to is actually free dentistry—free to the school children in the rural schools. Of course the dentists who carry the necessary equipment to the schools and give the dental treatment are paid for their services, either out of local tax funds or by other public or state appropriation.

Under such a program cleaning of the teeth, extractions, temporary fillings and the treatment of mouth infections should be considered a duty of the dentist in charge. When or where available funds will permit the service should be given to all children thru the grade-school age without cost.

If we are prepared to acknowledge that it is the proper function and duty of the state to provide dental treatment for all school children without cost to the parents of the children, then we must logically agree that free medical treatment should be furnished for all school children at the expense of the public.

Personally, I should like to see every child in the country who requires any dental or medical treatment receive the very best, regardless of the child's ability to pay. If the grade-school children do not get this dental treatment at public expense, some grifters will pocket the money anyway.

There is no doubt that such dental treatment for the school children who would not get it if it were not offered free of cost is a great boon for the physical welfare and general health of the children. The proper care of the teeth of children is sadly neglected in this country, and dentists and physicians are largely to blame, for they have too readily supported or sanctioned the tooth-pulling charlatans and failed to impress upon parents the indispensable requirement of regular visits to the dentist for proper care, cleaning or repair of the teeth of children.

But at the same time I do not believe the American people will stand for this attempt to establish state medicine by way of state dentistry. And I do not believe that the average American people want any free or charity care by dentists or doctors employed by school boards or health departments.

I should like to call attention to the misuse of language by this U. S. public health service, and especially with the purpose of deceiving the reader. He calls this dental treatment or dentistry "dental hygiene." That doesn't justify the trick at all. Nor would it justify the establishment of free state medicine or surgery. These political schemers need not try to pull the wool over the public's eyes like that.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Oh, Wow, Wow, Wow!

One of your articles has brought about a change of policy in our schools. It was the one in which you pointed out the necessity of keeping children home from school when they show symptoms of cold. The very day that article appeared our daughter came home in the forenoon ill. She was instructed by the teacher, however, to be sure to return to school at 1:30 so as not to spoil the school attendance record. My wife instead sent the teacher your article.

(W. F. D.)

Answer—And I'll bet the school people were mad! It makes our educationists who want any mere health expert dare to criticize or question any of their bad hygiene. In the schools and colleges the cue of all the big noises is to ignore the health education side as much as the dumb parents will stand. This is as true of the wealthy highbrow universities as it is of any backwoods grade school.

What, Not Seaside?

Let me sing your praises for the excellent seasickness remedy you sent me. We have just returned from a Central American sea voyage—passed thru a storm that lasted two days and nights, and never felt a minute—quite some new experience for the M—s. (C. H. M.)

Answer—Thank you. That's the kind of report worth having. I don't care to hear from people who escape seasickness if they've never been seasick. Glad to send any reader instructions for PREVENTING seasickness. Inclose stamped envelope bearing your address. Glad to have reports from those who try the method, tho if you've never before suffered with seasickness it doesn't mean anything if you escape—most of us are not subject to seasickness anyway.

Half Pound of Flaxseed

I give you credit for saving my life with your flaxseed remedy. I was a slave to pills, etc., for over 20 years. When I had used about half a pound of flaxseed as you recommended I found I did not need even that, so now I do not use anything. I have not lost a trip on account of seasickness for the past two years. (F. B. T., engineer)

Answer—In nearly all cases constipation is merely a bad habit. I have no cure to offer, but I'll advise and instruct any victim how to correct the habit. Just say you have the habit, and inclose stamped envelope bearing your address. It depends on how dumb and pig-headed you are—if you are still capable of learning something there's hope for you. The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE Travel Man said, "Why don't you join in this fine parade line, too? I think the little Jap lads would be tickled if you would. Parading isn't hard at all, if you walk straight, and do not fall." "You bet we will," cried Clary. "And we'll prove we're pretty good!"

And so the Tynmites stepped right in. This made the little Jap lads grin. One handed Clowny Tynmite his sword and paper hat. "Oh, thank you!" Clowny promptly said. The street paraded the queen of beauty and Mister Travel Man exclaimed, "You sure look queer in that!"

They marched around a little while in quite a military style. Then Clowny loudly shouted, "Halt! I think I've had enough. Of course I dearly love to play and have real fun both night and day, but I am not so keen about this crazy parading stuff."

"Geel! Speaking of parades, I know the very place we ought to go. Today this town's having a parade that's well worth while. A geisha girl's been named the queen of beauty. She will soon be seen. Just follow me. I'll show you a procession done in style."

They walked for several blocks or so and then Coppy shouted, "Oh, we're just in time. Look down the street! The parade is coming now. I'm mighty glad that we came here. Just listen to the people cheer. My everybody's happy. They're creating quite a row."

A wondrous float that towered high was very shortly passing by. It was painted every color that the happy Tynmites knew. The geisha beauty sat up front. The Tynmites thought this quite a stunt, and shortly waved up at the girl. She waved back at them, too. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The name of perhaps the most colorful director of the mint the country has had in recent times—Ray T. Baker, who held that post in the Wilson administration—is in the limelight again.

But is a neighborhood row and nothing political. Contractors building his reputedly $350,000 mansion with its $50,000 garage in the more exclusive section of Georgetown dumped 5,000 tons of dirt in the front yard of his friend, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman.

However, probably nothing will come of it. Baker immediately let it be known that he would do the proper thing—even testify against his own contractors in court. But there is yet to be explained why Ray Baker of Reno, Nevada, is building in Washington, in the neighborhood of Senator Pittman of Nevada, and other prominent Democrats, a home of such splendor.

Oddie May Be Reason

It was a hard thing, but it is worthy of note that next year his old political foe, Senator Oddie of Nevada, a Republican, must come up for reelection. Oddie trounced the good natured Baker rather soundly back in 1926 in a senatorial fight. Oddie's 4,000-vote majority in the thinly populated state of Nevada was considered quite decisive.

Those who know Baker can testify that he is a man not easily discouraged. Although he was appointed by a Democratic president a director of the mint, it required no little pressure to get him out when Harding came in with the Republican landslide in 1929.

Should he again do battle with Oddie in 1932 and emerge victorious, J. Hamilton Lewis, the cartorially elegant senator from Illinois, would have to look to his laurels. For when it comes to snappy dressing Baker is hard to beat.

His once black hair, now streaked with white, only adds to his distinguished appearance. His enthusiasm and good nature combine to make him a great mixer in any gathering.

Ray T. and Ray S. When President Wilson named him director of the mint, the story went the rounds in Washington that the chief executive thought he was naming Ray Stannard Baker, the man who later edited the war president's papers.

But Ray T. acquitted himself well. Among achievements attributed to him was success in completing war time shipments of silver from melted dollars to India without the loss of an ounce.

More than 265,000,000 silver dollars were melted and shipped to India over a period of a year to meet urgent war demands for coinage. Eighteen treasure trains made the trip across the United States. Each train carried between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 of 62-pound silver bricks.

Warned in advance that he might expect an unfriendly demonstration on the part of the extremists among his auditors, Russell received instead loud applause.

The declaration of Russell that the United States was fighting only because the democracies of the world were in danger, and that after democracy was safe the people would turn to social reform, was cheered to the echo.

Mr. Theodore, president of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates, in replying to Russell's speech, said that the democracy of Russia was built on the same foundation as that of the United States, and that Russia would carry on the war until mutual aims were achieved.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—It is fairly well known that New Yorkers could live like moles if they wished.

That means they could dwell and work very well without having to emerge into the open air. Nobody does it, but, with many hotels, shops and offices connected by the subway, they could.

There is, however, a single block in Yorkville, a mostly German neighborhood on the upper east side, where one could live in comfort without going beyond, even for a subway ride.

Within that block every facility, from the cradle to the coffin, is to be had. There are more than 60 shops offering all kinds of food, besides what the open air affords.

A dressmaker, a shoemaker, a tailor, corset, lingerie and women's and men's clothing stores; a doctor, dentist, pharmacist; dealers in cradles, stoves, paints, hardware and house furnishings; a plumber, laundry, servants' agency, movie theater, mail order store, a social club, events, ministers to marry or perform other services in four languages and numerous midwives.

By going into the next block the inhabitant could avail himself of a 5-and-10 store, a babies' milk station, municipal bath house, neighborhood settlement, house, and a park of several acres, with view of the East river and ships sailing up the sound to Boston.

It is unlikely that anyone restricts himself to such a limited area. But about a year ago a cobbler died on the lower east side in which he was born. His dwelling was over his shop, and it was said that for many years he never had left the block, even for a walk.

Sociological Note

"An underworld man's three great pleasures are women, cabarets and barber shops," says Paul Kerensky, who claims the title of world's fastest barber.

"A gigolo will sleep in a barber shop if he has got the money. If he can afford it he will have a haircut and a shave every day, and he will suffer if he can't have a haircut three times a week."

Caught

A modern young woman was entering a suburban roadside inn the other evening with her boy friend.

While he was checking in an older man, who spoke a few words to her and then left.

"What was that?" her escort asked. "That was father," said the girl. "And what did he have to say?" "He said, 'Don't tell mother!'"

Barbs

Pink grapefruit is being grown in California to attract more buyers. It seems the ordinary kind had a way of getting in the public eye.

The young astronomer who helped discover the planet "Pluto" plans to enter college. He's one who believes in hitching his wagon to a star.

Then there's the gangster who opened up a roadside inn in his rival's territory and called it "Muscle Inn."

Those college men searching for madonnas remain in Texas are probably the only students who can roll bones in public and get away with it.

Gladiolus Gives Fine And Cheap Cut Flower Supply

Fine gladiolus bulbs never were sold as cheaply as they are this season and there is no excuse why every garden should not have a plentiful supply. They offer the finest and at the same time the cheapest cut flower supply procurable. The glad is pre-eminently a flower for cutting and it has high garden value for furnishing color at a season when other plants are flagging. When the earlier ones are fading and the later ones are not yet at their best, the glad comes along with its spikes of bloom.

A very practical method of growing the bulbs for cutting is as a follow crop to the vegetables of early spring such as radishes and spinach and early lettuce. The bulbs may be planted in rows a few inches apart and cultivated like vegetables for the sole purpose of cutting.

In the garden they should be planted in groups of not less than six of a kind for effect. The larger the group the finer color effect but the best effect is to be gained in planting this group to a single color such as a good red, a fine pink, a white, yellow or purple.

The exception comes in the primulinus class in pastel shades which so harmonize with each other that they are fine in mixed plantings, the prevailing hues being yellows and salmons. Plant gladiolus every two weeks up to July for a continuous crop. Give them rich soil and much the same culture you would for first-class onions and you will have first-class spikes. Gladiolus bulbs are sold in different grades the huge first size, and the smaller second size. Many gardeners like the smaller bulbs which give more graceful spikes than the stiff, heavy full flowered spikes from first sized bulbs. They will be first size with numerous increase after the first year in any event, and are a bargain buy.

Bone meal is an excellent fertilizer to dig into the soil for the bulbs and to apply later in the season but balanced commercial fertilizers will give quicker results. You can tuck gladiolus bulbs into any small vacant spot in the border that appears. The spikes of leaves occupies little room and will be all the finer for the protection of other foliage about its roots. Buy gladiolus by the hundred this year while prices are within reach of the humblest pocketbook. You will have a supply for years to come.

Designed after the Holland tube in New York and the Fleetway tunnel in Detroit, a passage for vehicles planned for Boston is to cost $16,000,000.

SOCIALIST SHERIFF TO MAKE NEW SPEECH

Milwaukee—(P)—Despite the fact he was mistaken for a "red" and arrested as he made a Socialist speech on a Kenosha street corner last Saturday night, Sheriff Al Benson of Milwaukee—today planned to return to that city Saturday night for another speech.

This time, however, the sheriff possessed a speaking permit and was promised police protection instead of interference. His arrest came as a result of a charge made about capitalism and unemployment and two Kenosha officers, believing him a Communist, took him to police headquarters where he was recognized, released with apologies, and permitted to return to his corner.

DEBT PLAN STOPS GOLD SHIPMENT FROM REICH

Berlin—(P)—An interesting example of the effect that President Hoover's war debt plan had on the German financial situation came to light today.

A persistent run on foreign currencies had made necessary another gold shipment from the Reichsbank to New York last week. The gold was loaded aboard the liner Bremen and was ready to leave Monday when Mr. Hoover's announcement struck world markets and halted flight of the German mark. The gold was unloaded and returned to Berlin, delaying the liner's arrival by 24 hours.

APPROVAL GIVEN TO ROWLANDS MEASURE

Madison—(P)—The assembly yesterday gave approval to the Rowlands bill imposing a double fee for non-gasoline motor vehicles by advancing it to a third reading. The bill seeks to assess vehicles not affected under the new highway law.

A bill requiring banks to make annual reports of their pending conditions by auditors approved by the state banking commissioner was passed as was the joint finance committee bill repealing the three-year average plan of taxing incomes. This latter measure is included in the Groves income bill pending in the senate and was advanced for some action in the event the Groves bill fails.

The special committee created in 1929 to investigate campaign expenditures and election methods would be continued as an interim committee under a bill introduced by Assemblyman John Grobschmidt. The group would report in a bill to be introduced at the 1933 legislative session, "clarifying, modernizing, and strengthening the Corrupt Practices act."

SENATOR SMITH TO RUN FOR REELECTION

Eau Claire—(P)—State Senator Peter J. Smith has served notice he will be a candidate for reelection in the 28th district "until this infamous small loans law is erased from the statute books."

Abandoning a previous decision not to seek reelection, he announced his candidacy in a statement yesterday. The defeat in the assembly of the repealer of the Small Loans law, which permits yearly interest of 42 per cent prompted him to change his mind, he said.

New York—Miss Mary O. Soroka, who designs her own clothes, is the first woman to receive a certificate as civil engineer from the New York state authorities. She is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"I am appointed dictator for one hour for all India," he wrote in his weekly, Young India, "the first thing I would do would be to close without compensation all liquor shops, destroy all toddy palms from which liquor is locally extracted and 'Exceptions would be made in the cases of Europeans and diseased persons for whom a supply of liquor was medically necessary.'"

Keep Out Of Arguments With Child

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Ruth, don't go into the kitchen." Ruth paused and with defiance in every fibre of her two year old body said, "I—I—ant to."

"What's that?"
"I—I ant to."

"Don't say anything like that to your mother. You won't if I tell you not to."

Ruth stamped her foot and shouted, "I—I ant to."

"O, you will. Well I'll show you. You set foot across that threshold and I'll give you the spanking of your young life."

Bang—Ruth's tiny foot came down on the far side of the kitchen threshold with all the power of her body behind it aided by a temper in full flame.

"You certainly are the naughtiest child ever I saw. I told you I'd spank you and I will. You can't get away with anything like this, young lady."

The battle raged in earnest until the exhausted young mother was forced to rest. Such a needless battle. It would leave scars that might last a lifetime, and all for a mistaken notion. The child had no wilful intention of defying her mother. She knew nothing of such an attitude. She was trying to demonstrate her new-born personality, trying to test out her power, in the only way she knew, by asserting it loudly. Her mother not understanding, thought the child in danger of becoming a rebel and made the mistake of spanking and scolding and making a dramatic scene out of what should have been a slight incident.

Instead of saying, "Don't go into the kitchen," it might have been better to have said, "You can't go into the kitchen just now, Ruth, the boiler is full of scalding water and Kate has to empty it. While you are waiting we might go out and sort the laundry. Did you count the handkerchiefs? Did you put in yours? That nice one with the pussy in the corner and the bird in the other? Let's hurry so we can have them all ready when Yen Sen comes."

By diverting her attention, by pushing thought out of her mind with another task, and by avoiding the danger of arousing opposition is averted. This is far wiser than inviting the struggle. The fewer the battles the weaker the desire to fight becomes. Have no fear that in avoiding the battle you weaken the child's power and assertiveness to any dangerous degree. The little two year old who stamps and says, "I will if I want to," will always have a sufficient degree of self assertion and can well afford to have it modified and trained to the place where it serves rather than hinders its possessor.

Grownup people ought to know better than engage in a battle with a child of any age. The situation is unbalanced and is doomed to failure from the start. Authority is the last resource and can be used only

Simplified Refrigeration

NO LONGER

A LUXURY

There's no longer the slightest reason why you should try to "get along" for a single day without the tremendous convenience of electric refrigeration.

The new Servel Hermetic takes electric refrigeration out of the "luxury class". Its prices are comfortably within reach of every family income.

This highly simplified refrigerator frees you from the bother and expense of old-fashioned Service Calls. The working unit is permanently sealed to eliminate costly repairs in your kitchen, intricate adjustments and replacement of parts.

The "carefree" refrigeration of the new Servel Hermetic costs you considerably less. Careful tests show it requires less electric current to operate—gives you better refrigeration for the fewest possible cents a day.

There's no installation problem. We simply plug your new Servel Hermetic into the wall socket and it goes to work immediately.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I know," Harry nodded understandingly as Sue told him that she wouldn't need a position in his factory offices when Jack was established in his legal work again, as they would be married. "But it will take a little while, perhaps. I wonder if his father will relent and take him back."

"His father ought to give three cheers and sing a national anthem for the chance of getting him back," Sue answered promptly.

"Of course. And the old boy did a mighty neat piece of work in that case, too. He would be an asset to the firm. But old Judge Thornton never had his will crossed before. He hasn't forgotten that his own son opposed him and defeated him, although he recognizes Jack's ability and the right of his case. Life is hard to understand, Sue."

"May I keep my job, Harry?" Sue asked lightly, catching her breath, while her eyes danced. "I do type fast. The company won't lose any money on me."

"No, you can't! But if you insist on working you can take some dictation for a couple of letters every day at the office. Personal dictation. I'll supervise it. And the salary will be $10 a week more than you are getting."

"Harry, if you weren't my sister's husband, and I weren't so keen about Jack, I could almost fall for you myself," Sue told him solemnly.

"Almost, never quite," he corrected her, but his eyes twinkled with the mischievous light of old friendship. There wasn't anything mean and sentimental in the glance. That was all over. Their friendship was a normal, healthy affair.

"But I can't take your job, Harry," Sue talked on. "It wouldn't be fair to you. The girls in that room would resent it and their resentment would turn against the management. I'm going on my own, Harry."

Harry's right hand shot out. "You're the regular stuff, Sue. I wish you would, but I'm glad that you didn't."

"Thank you, Harry. Now I've got to go back and do three letters."

But she didn't get the letters finished. She had scarcely started the first when she was aware that someone was watching her. She glanced up straight into the glowing eyes of Dorrance.

"Sue Merryman. What are you doing here? What would Jack say?"

"He probably would ask me if I liked my job," Sue answered and went on typing.

"Harry told me you were here. But Sue, you can't stay. I won't have it!"

"The girls will hear you. They love gossip. They sweeten their luncheon with it. Cheaper than marmalade."

"But you can't work here. Please, Sue, don't. I don't want you to."

Finally Sue got her hat and coat and left, with Corrinne. There was nothing else to do if she wanted to avoid a scene.

She let Corrinne drive her home in her roadster that was her own private car. The two girls sat in front of the Merryman house and talked for a few minutes.

"I don't care where you work, just so long as you don't work there, Sue. Please, you don't understand. It's just that people will talk."

"Suddenly Sue knew why Corrinne didn't want her in the factory."

NEXT: Sue receives a letter from Jack.

Better let common-sense have its say with you, and just write a nice, friendly reply to that urgent entreaty of the old love. Because you haven't much to gain by seeking romance now. You're too far settled to a groove. You belong with the people you know and love. You belong to your own home and your own husband.

True, if you were to meet W. again, you might find that you still loved him deeply—but what happiness could that bring you or him any of the people who love you? You would only be upsetting an ordered way of life. You'd be asking for trouble, after you'd managed to find a real peace and contentment in life.

Aren't you just chasing a will-o-the-wisp of romance now, when romance is practically out of the station? W. isn't actually in love with you, the wife and sensible mother. He's in love with an early dream of you. He's harking back to that old dream of enchantment and hoping that it will serve as the basis for future happiness. And you can't really dying of emotion over a middle-aged successful man. You're remembering another life, too, and imagining that a bygone happiness can be translated into practical everyday terms of life.

You may be deceiving yourselves and each other, and why run a risk of finding out the truth? Let this sort of romance in on your present life. Keep it at a distance. Let it be just a dream, sentimental memory, a

Tailored Model

Comparison Leads To Ill Judgment

S. A.: You're comparing your present suit to the old false love, entirely too much. You can't judge the newcomer fairly and squarely while you're contracting him with someone else.

It would be folly for you to marry even the most ardent of suitors, if you're not at all sure that you're even mildly in love. And you must give the romance a chance before you come to any decision. But you'll never arrive at sane conclusions while you're comparing the two men so vigorously.

Perhaps you're seeing Y. in far too favorable a light because you contrast his character with that of the faithless love. Perhaps you find his proofs of his love absolutely convincing because they are obviously more genuine than those with which you were deceived before.

And perhaps too, just because you're an unreasonable feminine being, you find X. just a bit dull and stolid and too dependable because you're reminding yourself secretly of the fascinating elusiveness of his predecessor. Oh, you can't give Y. a fair break, and you can't really decide much about your feeling for him, till you get the image of the other man out of your mind and heart.

Begin right now to think about X. independently of anyone else and see whether you can't get a more definite opinion of him and a better judgment concerning your feeling for him.

ARCH SUPPORT IS IMPORTANT IN FOOTGEAR

BY ALICIA HART

Summer is one season of the year when you don't have to urge women to consider their foot comfort. They are too miserable if they don't!

However, you may be wearing shoes that don't actually hurt you and yet are gradually affecting your arches.

If you have to scrunch up your toes to keep pumps from falling off, don't wear pumps. There are so many smart sandals, one or two-eyel oxford and innumerable sports shoes on deck this year that it is silly to stick to opera pumps just because you like their looks.

May Need Wider Heels

If you wobble on your feet, get your next pair of shoes with heels a tiny bit wider and not quite so high. You may have gained a bit of weight that prevents you from wearing such frail footwear with the grace you formerly did.

When you get your shoes fitted, whatever their cut, there are three things you should consider: Adequate length, first adequate support under the arch; second, the arch in just the right place for your particular foot, in the third place.

There are four arches, as a matter of fact, to every foot. The one most of us bother about runs from the heel to the big toe, one the inside of the foot. Another spans the ball of the foot, between the big and little toes. The third one runs on the outside of the foot, from the heel to the little toe, and the fourth bridges the space between the heel and the instep.

Old Shoes Not Always Best

Sometimes old shoes that seem just too comfortable for words are trouble-causers. Their shanks may be broken or the arch worn down so that it no longer gives you support. Crooked heels are seen much less frequently than they used to be. But there shouldn't be any at all. It costs such a little to keep heels straight-

BOY BRIGADE CAMPERS BACK FROM ONAWAY

Championship Events in Various Sports Played Wednesday

Neenah—The Boys Brigade returned Thursday noon from Onaway Island after spending one of the greatest encampments in Brigade history. The camp opened June 17 with 109 boys enrolled, the largest number of campers in the history of the Boys Brigade. The camp was assisted by a staff composed of Lloyd Stipp, Earl Williams, John Schneller, Charles Neubauer, Willis Haase, Gordon Brown, the Rev. T. J. Reyk-dal, Aaron Dix, Ira Clough, Robert Gillette and Lester Mals. The camp was crowded with activities and sports of all kinds. Besides athletic events, there were treasure hunts and hikes, the boys enjoyed a trip to the Wild Rose fish hatchery.

Wednesday was the busy day at camp with finals in baseball, track meets and other sports. In baseball Kenneth Handler's National League team captured honors, while in the American League Stiller's Phillies A's won in their division.

In the championship game between the two teams, Stiller's 6-1 defeated Handler's team, 7 and 6. The members of the winning team were Ralph Stiegler, Carl Blank, James Janssen, Edward Schultz, Albert Sorenson, Buddy Althaus, Max Neabing, Gordon Cummings, Robert Heup, Paul Kuehl, Harvey Buntrock, Jack Thomsen, Rayborn Blank and Bobby Christiansen.

In the Tuesday inspection, first place went to tent 8 with William Neabing in charge; second place to tent 9, Stiller's; and third to John Farnakes' tent. On Wednesday first place went to John Bjelow, second to Jim Meyer, while John Farnakes retained third place. In the finals for the week's inspection, Jim Meyer's tent won first, John Farnakes' second and James Bjelow's third.

In the track meet the camp was divided into two groups, the Senior class consisting of high school boys and the Junior class consisting of grade school boys.

Swimming Meet 40-yard free style—Seniors—Breylinger, Klausner and Meyer. Juniors—R. Kettering, Heinz, Sawyer and Young. 40-yard back stroke—Seniors—Klausner, Breylinger and Breylinger. Juniors—Heinz, Sawyer and Young.

40-yard breast stroke—Seniors—Breylinger, Klausner and Danke. Juniors—Kuehl, Christiansen and Rasmussen.

Fancy diving—Seniors—Klausner, Meyer and Breylinger. Juniors—Young, Christiansen and G. Sawyer. Swimmers who have passed the required tests which make them eligible to swim on the deep side of the island were Edward Schultz, Robert Heup, Mayhew Smith, Ralph Rymer, Edward Mott, George Evans, Raymond Wollenhoffer, James Hruska, George Nobbe and Kenneth Loehning. Log rolling was introduced to the boys this year. Donald Smith placed first with Donald Schalk a close second in the contest.

Many special awards were given out at the Wednesday evening camp fire for long distance swimming, sportsmanship and outstanding work.

It had been planned to give a band concert Tuesday evening at the Soldiers' home but a case of smallpox was recently discovered at the home and the concert was cancelled.

A large group of Neenah people arrived at Edmond dock early Thursday morning to transport the boys back to their homes. The next group of campers on the island will be the Y. W. C. A. girls, who will start early in July.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Officers, teachers, adult classes and senior department of the Presbyterian Sunday school are holding their annual picnic Thursday at Doty park. A program of sports for the afternoon and evening is in charge of N. H. Bergstrom, Charles Abel and members of the John N. Bergstrom class. A recreational program was to be given under direction of Wilbur Sparks, and the stunts following the 8 o'clock supper, will be in charge of Earl Williams and a group of Brigade boys. Additional stunts will be in charge of Naomi Gibson and Marjorie Myhre.

KIWANIS FETED AT LAKE SHORE COTTAGE

Neenah—Kiwianians Wednesday evening were entertained at the Louise Herziger cottage at Adella beach by Mr. and Mrs. Herziger. Twenty-five of the members drove out early in the afternoon and spent an hour in games before supper was served. Following the supper a baseball game and cards furnished entertainment.

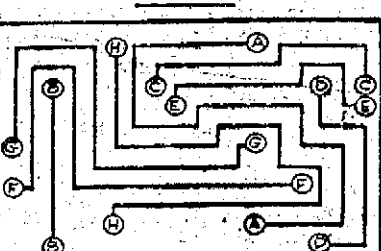

The Lady Kiwanians were entertained at a luncheon followed by bridge Wednesday evening by Mrs. Melvin Mace at her summer home at Pointe du Lac on the lake shore. Five bridges were won by Mrs. Peter Shea and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick.

NEW CONTRACTS WILL RAISE NAVY BUILDING COST TO 200 MILLION

Construction Now Under Way in Excess of $150,000,000 in U. S.

Washington—(AP)—The amount called for in naval construction work today totals more than $150,000,000, and the navy is making ready to let contracts which will raise it above $200,000,000.

Estimates from both coasts are expected on the 11 destroyers due to be started next. These cost $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 each—were authorized in 1918, but congress failed to appropriate funds for beginning work until the last session.

Seven 8-inch gun cruisers at $17,000,000 each are in various stages of construction, as well as a $19,000,000 aircraft carrier and three submarines, at $5,000,000; $4,400,000 and $3,287,000.

Of the cruisers, four are in navy yards and three in private yards. The New York Shipbuilding company has two under way in its Camden, N. J., yards—the Indianapolis, more than 60 per cent completed, and the Tuscaloosa. The Minneapolis is at the Philadelphia navy yard; the Portland at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation works at Fore River, Pa., and the New Orleans at the New York navy yard.

Out on the Pacific coast are two more—the Astoria at the Puget Sound Navy yard and the San Francisco at Mare Island in California.

The aircraft carrier Ranger, is under construction by the Newport News Va. Shipyard, and Dry Dock company, while the three submarines are all being built in New England. The Dolphin, due for completion in August, 1932, and the Cachalot, due about a year later, are at the Portsmouth, N. H. navy yard.

The contract for the Cuttlefish was made only a few days ago to the Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn.

The United States is building no new battleships as it already has 15 allowed under the London Naval treaty. But $30,000,000 worth of modernizing is to be done on three battleships—the Mississippi, New Mexico and Idaho.

Congress, last session appropriated $10,000,000 for starting this and all of the ships have been assigned to east coast yards. The Mississippi is at Norfolk, the New Mexico at Philadelphia and the Idaho soon will leave for waters to go on the way at Norfolk.

To conform to the London treaty, the battleship Florida, a veteran of the World war, will be scrapped at Philadelphia before Jan. 1. At Norfolk, the Utah is being demilitarized for use as a target ship. It was also agreed to convert the Wyoming into a training ship and this has already been done.

FLASHES OF LIFE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York—This is the 55th anniversary of the death of General George A. Custer at Little Big Horn, and his widow, a resident of Park-ave, regrets that it has been decided to dismantle Fort Abraham Lincoln at Bismarck, N. D., as an ecological measure. It was there she waited while her husband marched against the Indians. Recalling the hardships of frontier life, she remarked: "It's a nice thing about men that if they get into their heads they never see anything to the contrary."

Tarryton, N. Y.—In colonial days this place on the Hudson river was named by wives because their husbands lingered at taverns. Mayor Eugene H. Lehman, a schoolmaster, now proposes that the police obtain a list of patrons of speakeasies, and make it available for wives and employers.

Santiago, Chile—A million persons living in the valley of which Santiago is the center check their watches and clocks by a noon gun. On San Lucia, an Andean hill park in the heart of the city, a cannon roars. Some folks at a distance take account of the time it takes sound to travel.

Shanghai—The district of Jukao, near Shanghai, is famous in China for watermelons, but they are not good to eat. They are raised only for seeds, which, when dried, are considered a great delicacy by Chinese.

Lake Geneva—(P)—A replica of the reaper invented 100 years ago by Cyrus Hall McCormick occupies a prominent place among exhibits for the Lake Geneva centennial to be celebrated Friday and Saturday.

Madison—(P)—Assemblyman H. Albert Wrick, Campbellsport, today received treatment for a cut suffered when he fell down a flight of stairs in the capitol building. He was not hurt seriously, but was taken to a hospital. He represents the second district of Fond du Lac-co.

Greenville, Mich.—(P)—The Rev. N. C. Nelson, Marquette, Wis., today occupied the position of secretary for the 54th national convention of the Danish Lutheran church convening here.

Memories stretching back 30 years will recall Dwight F. Davis, retiring governor of the Philippines, as the Harvard undergraduate who won the national intercollegiate tennis championship and later became the donor of the Davis cup. Son of a wealthy St. Louis family, Mr. Davis achieved distinguished success in the law in his native city. In 1921 President Harding made him director of the reorganized war finance corporation. He was assistant secretary of war in 1923, and later succeeded John W. Weeks as secretary when the latter retired on account of illness. He left this post two years ago, and President Hoover sent him to the Philippines. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the world war, twice cited for bravery.

BLACK BASS FISHING BANNED IN DOOR-CO

Fishermen planning to seek black bass in the lake regions around Door-co must wait until July 1 if they wish to stay out of the clutches of the state conservation commission's game wardens. Door-co waters are called outlying waters and under state law black bass fishing is banned until July 1. Several fishermen were arrested last weekend because they had been misinformed.

FORMER BADGER HAS IMPORTANT JOB IN TREASURY DIVISION

Captain Jacobs Is Assistant Commissioner in Public Debt Service

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles written about Wisconsin people working for the government at Washington, D. C.)

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Forty-one years ago he was a small-town Wisconsin college lad whose knowledge of old finance was limited to the cash he had earned from odd jobs during vacations.

Today Captain Sidney R. Jacobs, formerly of Whitewater, Wis., and now assistant commissioner of the public debt service of Uncle Sam's treasury department, is called upon to cast an expert eye over accounts of government expenditures and receipts running into the millions.

For the treasury division of which he is second in command has charge of issuing bonds, whereby the government borrows from its citizens to finance new projects and to cancel old bills.

The much discussed foreign debt is tied up with Captain Jacobs' department, too, for the money which Uncle Sam sent abroad was borrowed from the people of the United States and until this is repaid by one means or another, it is part of the national debt.

Is Big Task

Keeping all the fact about the public debt at his finger tips sounds like a big job for a man, but besides his regular work, Captain Jacobs has been given the chairmanship of two important committees within the treasury, which occupy about half of his time.

As chairman of the budget and improvement committee, Captain Jacobs heads the group of ten experts who pass on proposed appropriations of the treasury department, making suggestions where they believe money can be saved for the tax payers and okaying warranted expenditures. For the fiscal year of 1932, for instance, ordinary annual appropriations amounting to $160,778,887
were sought by the various bureaus and offices but the budget officer with the assistance of the committee approved deductions amounting to more than $8,000,000.

Captain Jacobs also heads the committee on enrollment and disbarment of attorneys and agents, which has the weighty responsibility of passing on the eligibility of lawyers to handle income tax cases.

Because of the millions at stake in the filing of income tax returns and the enormous fees paid to lawyers handling these cases for big corporations, the temptation for shady practice is greater than in almost any other field of law; hence the task of selecting and disciplining the lawyers admitted to practice before the Treasury is a responsible one and a task that takes a great part of Captain Jacobs' time and thought.

Well Fitted
For this responsibility, he is fitted not only by his long years of experience in the treasury department,
but also by his knowledge of law,
which he studied at George Washington University in Washington.
He has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and the Supreme Court of Wisconsin.

Captain Jacobs earned his military title by service in the National Guard and in the Spanish American War, when he was captain of Company M of the District of Columbia Regiment.

An active Mason, he was Grand Master of the District of Columbia in 1925. He is also active with the Spanish War Veterans and was district commander of the Naval and

In the above deal, South just falls to meet the requirement for an original forcing bid of two spades. The requirements of four Quick Tricks in hand and seven Probable Tricks with one of the suits as trumps are met, but with such minimum, there is another requirement, namely, that the Quick Trick value should be divided among at least three suits
in order to make the hand elastic.
However, when partner shows at least 1½ Quick Tricks—the requirement for a take-out—South is fully justified in making the forcing bid of three hearts on the second round. Considering North's hand at Contract, he is just shy of the forcing take-out of three clubs. He has the probable tricks in support of spades to justify an assist and at Auction should be content with the Spade bid.

At Contract, however, he should keep the bidding open in hopes ican War.

Though most of Captain Jacobs' time in the government service has been spent in the Treasury Department, his first government job was in the War Department, where he began as a clerk in 1890. In 1898, he transferred to the Treasury Department, beginning there as a clerk in the auditor's office.

Whenever he is able, Captain Jacobs likes to return to his home state of Wisconsin to visit with friends and relatives living there. One brother, H. H. Jacobs is well known in Milwaukee for his social settlement work, which he has conducted for more than thirty years in connec-

Madison—(P)—The attorney general has named Frank W. Kuehl, assistant attorney general, as special counsel to prosecute legitimate claims against the federal govern-dance with a bill introduced by Assemblyman Robert Nixon, Washburn which became law when signed by the governor. The new law directs that South may have better than an original bid and accordingly should bid two Clubs. Such a bid affords a better chance of ascertaining South's holding than would an immediate assist of the Spades, based on three small trumps.

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract: The bidding has been generally described in the preamble. South starts with a bid of one Spade. West passes, North bids two Clubs. East passes and North, knowing that South has a two suiter, bids four Spades to conclude the bidding.

Auction: South obtains the declaration for his opening bid of one Spade.

The Play

West opens the three of Diamonds and Dummy takes the trick with the Ace. Since at least one, possibly two Hearts, must be trumped in Dummy in order to establish that side suit in Declarer's hand, Hearts are started immediately, the Ace and King being played by Declarer, followed by a small Heart which Dummy trumps, East over-trumping.

East leads the King of Diamonds and Declarer trumps in his own hand. Declarer plays a high Spade in hopes that East may have held two. A fourth Heart is led and trumped in Dummy, East again over-trumping with the Queen of Spades. Declarer can now take out the trumps and make his long Heart, but East has already made two trump tricks and must still make his King of Clubs. Since East held such a strong defensive hand against the Spade bid, North and South make but four odd.

FORESTRY PROGRAM HAS BEEN HELPED BY WOMAN'S CLUBS

Chief of Service Credits Groups With Aiding Progress in Last Decade

Milwaukee—(P)—Interest shown by women's clubs in forest conservation has influenced to a large degree the progress made during the last decade in national forest development in the Lake States region, said G. A. Duthie, chief of the information division, United States Forest service, Washington, here on a tour of inspection.

"Women's interest in conservation began largely with their study programs in club work, and their deliberations have not been mere passimes," Duthie said. "They are interested in the conservation of all our natural resources—not only the forests, but the maintenance of streams protection of farm lands from erosion, and preservation of wild life,
all of which go hand in hand."

"Now that women have seen the needs their studies are being translated in appropriate action. Once a woman is convinced of the need of any economic or political reform, she is sure to demand action. She wants something done about it."

Duthie commended the Federated Women's clubs of Wisconsin on projected plans to take a trip into the North woods next month. He said it would give members a much clearer view of what the state needs in the way of a conservation program than they could get from abstract study of the problems.

The forestry official said his tour has revealed the interest shown women in the work is indicative of a marked change in the public attitude toward forest conservation.

"This is my first trip into the region in over 15 years," he said, "and what a change has come in the meantime! For many years it was apathy and neglect. Now the states have taken hold of the problem and their Forestry commissions are functioning with well defined programs."

Quoting the Chief Forester, Duthie declared the program of buying cut-timber lands for creation of new national forests is not overly ambitious. The 16,000,000 acres to be purchased out of the 375,000,000 acres
east of the Great Plains, he said, constitute but 4.3 per cent of the total forest acreage.

He also explained the forest service is not in the competitive field, but welcomes an opportunity to work with individuals, states and groups.

Duthie will tour northern Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota where the federal government spends

$250,000 annually for fire prevention. Three old established forests in Minnesota and lower Michigan, three newly created national forests in the Michigan peninsula, and six national forest purchase areas in northern Wisconsin are on his itinerary.

HIT the TRACHEA and you KILL the FLY

INDOR will keep your home free from the danger and annoyance of flies this summer. INDOR has a scientific two-way killing action. The fine mist of INDOR, when sprayed, soon accumulates on the flies, spreading over their bodies and entering into the tracheae, where it forms a toxic poison or stops up the openings to the tracheae which immediately suffocates them.

The poison used in INDOR comes from the pyrethrum flower which is harmless to humans, birds and animals,
but is sure death to flies, mosquitoes, roaches, moths and their larvae. INDOR is clean, clear and has a very pleasant odor that soon disappears. It will not stain fabrics or taint foods.

Directions—Close all doors and windows of room . . . first spray where insects are most numerous . . . then spray upward towards ceiling, filling entire room with mist . . .
keep room closed for 10 minutes . . . then sweep up and burn all dead flies and insects.

George Watkins, St. Louis Cards, Ties Modern Home Run Record

GETS 3 HOMERS OFF PHILLIES; ROBINS WIN 2

Babe Ruth Gets 15th Four Ply Swat as Yankees Beat Chi Sox

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York—(CPA)—The course of a season will major league fans see an afternoon more crammed with sparkling baseball than was served up in yesterday's program of 12 games. There was a little of everything, including prodigious feats at bat and field.

Outstanding in the list of the day's achievements was that of George Watkins, right fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, who tied the modern record for homers in a single game when he parked three in the second game of a doubleheader against the Phillies. Watkins' three blows, one with a man on base, gave the leaders a 4 to 2 victory and a clean sweep for the day. They took the first by the same score when they knocked Ray Egan out of the hill in the ninth and scored three runs.

Wiley Moore Wins
Wiley Moore, veteran Boston Red Sox right-hander, gave the day's second remarkable performance in beating the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 2. So well did Moore have the Indians' hand that not a single chance was handled by the Sox outfielders. Bill Sweeney on first base came within one chance of trying the all-time big league record when he made 21 putouts.

Watkins' three homers proved a big help to the Cardinals. The double victory at Philadelphia enabled them to increase their lead over the field by a full game as the Giants and Cubs broke even at the Polo Grounds. Carl Hubbell set the Hornsby nine down with two hits and blanked them, 2 to 0, in the first game, but Chicago came back to slug out a 14 to 10 victory in the ninth. They jumped on Joe Heving and Bill Walker for six runs in the ninth.

The Brooklyn Robins surprised their constituents by taking a pair from Pittsburgh, 6 to 4 and 5 to 3, and running their winning streak to four straight. The double triumph put Brooklyn into the first division for the first time this season, supplanting Boston in fourth place. Mickey Finn's batting proved the deciding factor in both games. Both Shaute and Helmach went the route for the winners.

Beavers Trip Reds
After dropping their third straight to Cincinnati, 8 to 5, the Boston Braves came back to win the second half of their doubleheader, 11 to 6. St. Johnston pitched his seventh victory of the year for the Reds in the first tilt, his mates knocking Lefty Brandt from the hill in the fifth. Don Zachary stopped Col. Howley's men in the second, holding them to one hit the first five innings.

The Philadelphia Athletics ran into Wallace Hebert, rookie southpaw, out at St. Louis and took another beating from the Louisiana youngsters, this time by the score of 6 to 5. He heaved them in his first big league start two weeks ago. Goose Goslin helped him along with a pair of home runs off Rube Walberg, who was charged with his third defeat.

The loss failed to cut down the Athletics' lead as Washington, losing to Detroit, 7 to 5. The Tigers won with a four-run rally that drove Lloyd Brown from the box in the eighth. Babe Ruth rapped his fifteenth homer of the campaign to help the Yankees take their sixth straight from the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1. Charley Ruffing had the Sox blanked until the ninth when they bunched half of their eight hits.

Calling the Strikes

New York—(CPA)—Umpires in the major leagues are having more than their usual troubles this year. There is more of it in the National league now than in the American league, but there was so much in the American that the owners had to elect a president to try to unsnarl some of the tangles.

It is easy enough to understand why there might be more trouble of mind in the National league. The games are closer, every little point is being fought for and every manager who loses a close game puts the blame on John Smith, umpire—and this is no halcyon year for John Smith.

We have had to dodge the so-called rabbit bill for the last three years," said one umpire, and now we have to dodge the lively manager."

SUAREZ, PETROLLE AT GARDEN TONIGHT

Argentine Sports Fans Will Receive Fight Over Radio Hookup

New York—(AP)—Justo Suarez, Argentina's lightweight pride, who may be a real contender for the title held by Tony Canzoneri, clashes with Billy Petrolle, the rugged Fargo, N. D., "Express," in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The colorful little Argentine has bright prospects and the start of his second campaign in the United States has stirred up the fight fans of his native country so much that special radio and telephone arrangements, even covering dressing room interviews, have been made. It is estimated that more than $50,000 will be spent in the broadcasting.

Suarez showed himself to be a good boxer in his first North American tour and now he claims a punch to go with it. He has scored three quick knockouts in his latest bouts, stopping Stan Loayza among others.

Petrolle is now rated as leading contender for the lightweight title and must score a decisive victory.

GREEN BAY SOX TO SHOW HERE SUNDAY

"Bo" Molenda Expected to Take Mound Against Appleton Club

August Brandt Ford of the Fox River Valley baseball league again will show for the home folk Sunday afternoon at Brandt park with the Green Bay club the opposition. It will be the second meeting of the teams this season, the Fords having won the first encounter.

"Bo" Molenda of the Packer football team will take the mound against the Fords Sunday and it will be his first attempt to stop the Appleton sluggers. Molenda has been having great success during the last couple weeks with other clubs and would like nothing better than to turn back the local.

Eddie Kotal who bossed the Fords a couple years ago also is with the Green Sox aggregation and will hold down the shortstop position. Although he'll be performing with the enemies, Eddie probably will get a big hand when he takes his war club to the plate in the first inning.

At Behr again will be on the mound for the Fords. He pitched great ball last week against Kaukauna and with the greatest threat of the way should hurt the Fords to another win Sunday. Neither the Bays nor the Fords have impressive bat records but the Appleton figures a just a bit better.

The Larsen team, formerly known as Winchester, had an easy win from the Nee-Menasha aggregation, scoring 19 runs to only four for the Twin Cities aggregation.

YANKS FAVORED IN RYDER CUP MATCH

Familiarity With New Ball and Course Gives U. S. Team Edge

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Columbus, O.—(AP)—The balloon ball was up for an international trial tomorrow in one of the biggest golfing shows of 1931—the Ryder cup matches between teams of home-born British and American professionals.

Captain Walter Hagen's forces, completed only after Denmore Shute had beaten Frank Walsh at the nineteenth hole of the competition for the tenth and last place, will carry the home colors into battle as favorites to win the two-day competition over the rugged layout of the Scioto country club.

The Americans, whether they like the oversized ball or not, have the advantage of greater familiarity with it plus the confidence of being on home soil and the fact that the British likely will start without the service of one of their best professionals, Henry Cotton, and with another season's campaign, George Duncan, in poor condition.

The invaders, led by Captain Charles Whitcombe, have found Scioto an exceedingly troublesome battleground, in addition to manifesting a marked prejudice against the American ball. They have confidence, nevertheless, in their team strength and the record of having beaten their rivals in two of the three team matches played since 1926. The first of these affairs was not for the Ryder cup, however, so that this is the third season for the trophy won by the Americans at Worcester in 1927, by the British at Moortown in 1929.

Cotton's arrival in Columbus revived rumors that last-minute measures would result in his inclusion on the team, despite his previous refusal to play in the Ryder cup. Fred Pignion, manager of the British team, declared no changes were contemplated.

Little Fox Gossip

If Dame Rumor can be believed, Kimbrey of the Little Valley league, in an effort to strengthen his team, is attempting to secure Harry Fahrner, boss right-hander of the Little Fox wheel. Though the Nee-nah had probably would draw a fair salary for his work, it is doubtful if he would accept the offer as he is Coach Ole Jorgenson's star full-back and he still has a year on the gridiron ahead of him.

Two of Sunday's games will be unusually interesting. One is Appleton at Neenah. The teams have split a pair of games this year, by one score margins and of the 20 innings played 14 have been scoreless. The Merchants won the first effort at Neenah in 11 innings, 1-0, and the Athletics came back 4-3 at Appleton. Hits were scarcer than hens teeth in both games, something unusual for Neenah. Its going to be a great battle at that city Sunday.

DePere and Green Bay, natural rivals are meeting for the first time at Green Bay and they battle for third place which the Bays hold by 1. Last year the teams as independent nines split two good games but this year two loop struggles were postponed. A double-header is likely Sunday with a player-territory dispute to liven proceedings.

Matt Dupont, hard-working first sacker of the Little Chute league leaders, was in a Kimbrey uniform last Sunday and he probably will be given a good chance to show his stuff with Poca's nine. He's a fine felder and a fair batter whose stock-work is improving each season.

After next weeks games, the player list of the league teams is due. Each manager can retain 18 men from then until the season's end with any replacements or additions to inleap under 18 being approved by Jop directors before the change is made.

Babe Forgets Homers And Now Seeks His Base Hits

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1931

NEW YORK—(CPA)—The Big Bambino of baseball has gone scientific. Babe Ruth, the idol of fandom, has taken up the art of the rapier and instead of attempting to set a new home run record he is trying for basehits. The result is that the Babe today is a greater batter, with fewer home runs, than when he sat on the throne of the circuit clouters.

American league batting averages in general are dwindling a trifle now compared with the express speed at which they were going in the early part of the year. Ruth today is batting .338. Not only is that a very high figure for the league but a high figure for Ruth. He himself says he is batting more scientifically this year. He says he is out for base hits as well as for home runs.

SCHMELING READY FOR TITLE BOUT, HANDLERS DECLARE

Stribling Will Help Coach Mercer College Gridders Next Season

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Conneaut Lake Park, Pa.—(AP)—Max Schmeling is in condition, both in spirit and body, to fight fifteen rounds, at terrific pace when he climbs into the ring in the defense of his title against Young Stribling in Cleveland a week from tomorrow night.

The world's heavyweight champion was convinced of this today as a result of his eight rounds of sparring yesterday, the longest workout of his training campaign. Perhaps there was some doubt in Schmeling's mind as to his ability to go ten rounds at terrific speed, but whatever doubt existed was quickly dispelled after he got through exchanging punches with four sparring partners.

Schmeling fought eight and went through two rounds of causthetics without a wince. He was going harder in the last rounds than he did in the first, which indicated perfect condition, according to his handlers.

Joe Jacobs, the German's manager, was not at all alarmed over Schmeling's showing against Natle Brown, the ambitious San Francisco heavyweight, who bounced left hooks and right crosses off the German's kept, in the same fashion that he did when he first worked with Simon Tuesday. Despite the heavy barrage of punches, Schmeling kept moving into Brown and wound up by cracking two savage rights on the chin.

Jacobs explained that Schmeling was not a showy performer in training and that he was in the ring to get a good workout instead of attempting to slaughter his sparring partners.

STRIKES TO HELP GRIDDERS
BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Geauga Lake, O.—(AP)—Bill Stribling is going to college next fall to repay southern football for the services he receives daily at his training camp from Lake Russell, head coach at Mercer University in Macon, Ga.

Russell, a curly headed, 230-pound husky who played tackle for Tennessee, coached at Carson Newman for seven years, and then shifted over to Mercer in Stribling's hometown, is training the southern challenger for his 15 round heavyweight title match with Max Schmeling in the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, July 3. Bill won't study at Mercer next fall but he will return Lake's favor by teaching his football players something of footwork and the straight arm.

"Stribling's left jab," says Russell in a soft southern drawl, "is just about the finest thing in the way of a straight arm that could be taught halfbacks and defensive linemen. He's promised me he'll come over and show the boys something about footwork, too, keeping the weight properly balanced so you can shift quick in any direction."

The southern wide planned the first of three final boxing drills to night with Frank Cawley, his new chief sparring partner, providing more opposition than Stribling has received since he began training for the title bout here weeks ago. Cawley, a stablemate of Tommy Loughran, evaded the challenger's punches rather easily in their first workout Tuesday night.

"RED" SMITH PLANNING COLLEGIATE BALL CLUB

A traveling baseball team composed of former college baseballers is being organized by Richard "Red" Smith of Kaukauna, according to reports. "Red," now coach at Seton Hall, an eastern school, is reported to be gathering players such as Eddie Donagan, former Wisconsin third sacker, Bo Molenda of Green Bay, Eddie Kotal of Green Bay, Al Prange of Kaukauna and a flock of other collegians to form a club to play independent ball. If completed the team should attract quite a bit of attention with all its "rah-rah" atmosphere.

INDEPENDENTS WIN 2 SOFTBALL GAMES

The fifth ward Independent softball team won two games during the last two days. The first victim was the Eagles and the score was 17 and 9. The second victim was the Pure Milk company team, the score being 4 and 2.

The Independents took a five run lead in the first inning of the game with the Eagles and with a run in the second and another in the third, soon had a big edge. They continued scoring at least one run in the remainder of the six innings. The game was called in the sixth on account of darkness. Lorenz and Schade worked for the Independents and Currie and Driessen for the Eagles.

Last night the same duo worked for the Independents who overcame a one run lead in the first inning and who put down an uprising in the eighth to cop. The fifth warders scored one run in the third, two in the fourth and one in the ninth. Hinks and Fass worked for the Eagles.

Seattle, Wash.—George Kerwin, Chicago, and Tony Portillo, Seattle, fought to a six round draw (6).

Close Games

Chicago—St. Paul yesterday regained the leadership in the American Association by splitting a pair with Columbus, losing and winning by scores of 7 to 6 and 10 to 6. The Red Birds overcame an early Saint lead to win the first game, while the Saints won the second contest in the tenth after Columbus had tied it up in the ninth.

Louisville dropped its third straight to Milwaukee, 8 to 4, rallying for four runs in the ninth. The rally was aided by young Ed Walsh who committed a wild pitch with the bases full and none out. Americo Poli pitched the whole game for the Brewers, while Johnny Marcum preceded Walsh on the hill for the Colonels.

Dutch Henry held Toledo to six hits to help Minneapolis to an 8 to 2 victory over the Mud Hens. Bill Robb pitched well until the fourth when he developed a wild spasm and six runs were scored by the Millers. Henry retired the first 13 men in order.

Sports Question Box

Question—Did Jack Kid Berg lose his Junior welterweight title when he lost to Tony Canzoneri? If so, why?

Answers—Yes. The fact that Canzoneri did not weigh more than 142 pounds, the class weight, won the Junior title. The only time a champion retains his title in a losing fight is when his opponent weighs over the stipulated weight.

Question—Is it legal to establish a game as a championship contest if seven innings are agreed upon instead of nine?

Answer—Technically it is not legal. A game should always go the innings when it is possible to complete them. Clubs and leagues may agree upon seven innings and be permitted to do so by their organizations but it is not a good practice.

In England there are about 18,000 accidental deaths a year. Of these about 6,000 occur on highways and the balance in industry and homes.

Harper Finds Notre Dame Opponents Sportsmen All

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright 1931
NEW YORK (CPA)—Jesse Harper's visit to the east in connection with Notre Dame's football engagements for next fall and the future must have left Notre Dame's new director of athletics with a very impressive idea as to the honesty and good faith of the rivals with whom his predecessor, the late Knute Rockne, was associated.

It appears that Rockne conducted much of his business relating to schedules, percentages of gate receipts, guarantees and the like by word of mouth. Everything was in his head and everyone associated with him in rivalry was perfectly content to have it so, because

CO. D COMMENDED FOR ITS HIGH RATING

General Immel and Colonel Himes Pay Respects to Appleton Guards

Personal letters of commendation
from Brig. Gen. Ralph M. Immel, adjutant general of the Wisconsin
National Guard, and Col. Forest H.
Himes, commanding the 127th Infantry, for showing of Co. D, 127th Infantry, at its annual federal inspection, have been received by Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder, commanding the company. The federal inspection was held in April with Lieut. Wayne C. Zimmerman, U. S.
A., Eau Claire, inspecting officer.

The letter from Gen. Immel reads: "The adjutant general desires to commend all members of your company for the excellent showing of you unit at the 1931 annual army inspection. It is indicative of a high standard of training and close supervision of instruction by company and non-commissioned officers."

Col. Himes in his letter expresses pleasure at noting Co. D, received a "satisfactory" report with "no deficiencies." He also states that Co. D, and Co. B, Rhinelander, were the only two companies in the regiment that had no remarks scheduled against them.

Sunday morning another detail of men from Co. D, will go to the company machine gun and pistol range for the last practice with both weapons before the unit goes to Camp Douglas, Saturday, July 11.
Although the company now has full strength, Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder will accept several new men who can attend the 15 day encampment.

Knute's word was as good as his bond—and he never forgot even a minor detail.
In looking over his official papers
Harper could find little beyond a list of rivals for the next few years.
There was no data as to terms or statements concerning other conditions.

So in going about among the graduate managers and athletic directors with whose teams Notre Dame had been committed for games by Rockne, Harper was almost absolutely dependent upon the honesty of his rivals.

For instance, at West Point he inquired as to the financial terms upon which Notre Dame and the Army played and specifically what the arrangements for next fall's game in New York were. West Point could have told Harper anything it pleased and Harper would have been obliged to accept it, as something to which Notre Dame had been committed by Rockne. But of course Major Fleming told him that the game was to be played upon a fifty-fifty basis and cited other fair and equitable terms under which in accordance with arrangements made with Rockne, this and future contests were to be played.

So with other institutions, Harper had to proceed blindly, relying absolutely upon the good will and integrity of his opponents. And it is hardly necessary to say that in no case had he any feeling other than that he was carrying on an intercollegiate rivalry based absolutely upon friendship, mutual respect and loyal obligation.

From all indications Notre Dame and Southern California are in for a long term agreement as to home-and-home games. Not long before last December's game against the Trojans, Rockne expressed some concern over the long journey to Los Angeles and said he doubted whether relationship with Southern California could be conducted with fairness to his team, because of the wear and tear of travel and the climatic changes. His idea was that the 1930 game might be the last for some time to come.

But the splendid showing of the team against Southern California and the success which followed Rockne's expedient of having the men play the game soon after their arrival, before the climate could affect them, apparently caused him to alter his views about this game.
At any rate the prospects now are that the Trojans and Notre Dame will be hooked up for an extended home-and-home series.

According to British Columbia lumbermen the record for the large red tree ever cut down rests with the Lynn Valley Douglas fir which was 417 feet high, being 300 feet to the first limb. It was 25 feet in diameter and 77 feet in circumference.

age group in Wisconsin in 1930 indicates that the white plague may never again regain the ascendancy
it enjoyed up to a few years ago.

This group surrendered 227 lives to tuberculosis in 1928. Two years later this toll was cut to 205, and in 1929 it was 187 deaths. While the winning fight continues against this leading death cause for the group, however, the accident menace, second in importance, has been gaining by leaps. The 1930 accident toll for the group was 148, as compared with 105 in 1929, a gain of a cool 40 per cent, the records of the state bureau of vital statistics reveal.

twenties yielded 61 lives last year

Sergeant Herb Kapp Denies He Is Grooming For Match

A letter was received this morning from Sergeant Herbert Kapp of the Appleton police department, who is on his vacation. Last week the Post-Crescent carried a news story in which it was revealed that Sergeant Kapp is spending his vacation period grooming himself for a championship golf match with Officer Carl Radtko. The letter, which apparently is in response to the story, follows:
Somewhere in Sheboygan-c-o.
Sunday, a. m.

Dear Mr. Editor:
"Having just returned from

was in fourth order of importance with a toll of 55 lives, and suicides set an appalling high with 46 cases
as compared with 24 in 1928.

Heart diseases stood next, exacting 45 lives, duplicating the 1929
toll for this item, and appendicitis stood seventh with 35 victims, ten more than in 1929. Cancer, nephritis and influenza completed the list of ten chief death-dealers in this age group.

church, a place where all good Christians go on Sunday (I'll say here that I doubt if Officer Carl Radtko was there) I take my pen in hand to write you in regard to an article which appeared in your paper yesterday. I think that the enterprising reporter who wrote the story must have been talking to Officer Radtko because some of those statements sound suspiciously like the oft-repeated boasts of that lowly policeman in regard to his prowess as a golfer.

I want to say right now that I am spending my vacation on this farm entirely as a farmer. I am assisting in the regular farm duties and golf is farthest from my mind. Poo! I defeat! As if I need any practice to defeat a dub like Officer Radtko.
Why the last time we were out together I beat him so badly that he has refused to meet me since.
I want to assure you that I knew nothing about the fact that my wife packed my golf equipment when we left for this place.
Of course, now that they are h. r.

I will admit that I've taken a few practice swings. But it certainly wasn't my fault that a chicken should happen to get directly in the path of the ball, after one of my vicious swings. If I do say so myself, that old pill cuts a mighty mean arc
after I tap it.

Perhaps I can take this opportunity to tip you off to the fact that if you are looking for some humorous stories you will assign that reporter of yours to interview Mr. Radtko and Officer Fred Arndt about their activities as fishermen. They have both taken it up quite seriously. I understand. Officer Radtko, one of the boys said, claims it isn't quite so strenuous as golf, but I won't believe a single thing he says unless I see him catch the fish.

And you can inform Officer Radtko that I'll meet him anywhere, anytime for the police golf championship. And I'll probably have to give him a handicap, too.
Sincerely yours,
Sergeant Herbert Kapp

Anti-Saloon League Men Debate On Prohibition

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Debating the question, "Can the Law Be Enforced," two men, representing the Anti-Saloon league, appeared before an audience at the Congregational church on Wednesday. The arguments of the men, O. J. Bagne, of Eau Claire, and H. J. Yngve, of Minneapolis, were presented in a new manner, departing from the accepted form of debate.

Mr. Yngve, appearing as a district attorney, was approached by Mr. Bagne, representing a citizen who wishes the law enforced. Argument exchanged on both sides showed the reasons for non-support of prohibition laws, and the progress made since the prohibition law has seen action. To the assertion that the law was slipped over on the people

the first place, the citizen replied that the law passed by a vote of 65 to 35. This, he believed, reflected the sentiment of the nation. Figures were presented to show that drunkenness has not increased, but rather that crime and drunkenness have been cut down appreciably since the enactment of the law.

In reply to the assertion upon the part of the pseudo district attorney that America cannot hope to enforce prohibition since many people of foreign birth are accustomed to alcoholic drinks the other speaker said that these persons took more of their drinks from their native lands. Let them return to their native lands. In following out this line of thought he suggested that foreign bootleggers be returned also, because much of the liquor war and crime originates in these classes. The speakers followed up their local officials know best what their stand being that this sort of liquor would never satisfy unless it intoxicated, therefore the country would be better off with none at all.

That the disinterestedness of the public is most harmful was one of the points brought out. The speakers are not inactive, was said, and though the direction of public opinion is for the most part toward prohibition, it is of such inactive direction that the wets provide both the wind and the straw. Federal law should not be relied upon entirely because local officials know best their community conditions, and because they swore to uphold the law, public officials owe it to their people and their oath to enforce the law.

Convincingly given was that portion of the debate in which it was brought out that citizens and officials together should enforce the law, citizens by stopping wet propaganda, the publications of wet newspapers, and the jokes of the talkies which insist upon abstinence and refrain from serving of liquor, and men should defend the prohibition laws wherever possible. They should attend sessions of court thereby evincing interest in the outcome of liquor trials, never refuse jury service, and all voters should watch carefully during the primary elections to ascertain the type of men who are being put for official duties. They should make what progress they do, it was brought out, because of organization. Millions back the enterprises which are organized to break down laws, and citizens wait for officials to act, while officials do likewise.

EDUCATION IS DISCUSSED AT KIWANIS CLUB

A. G. Oosterhaus, Appleton Principal, Addresses Chilton Group

Special to Post-Crescent—Chilton—A. G. Oosterhaus, principal of the Roosevelt Junior high school of Appleton addressed the Chilton Kiwanis at its regular meeting at the Hotel Chilton Tuesday evening. Mr. Oosterhaus is its founder because it was chiefly through his personal efforts that the Chilton Kiwanis was organized.

Preliminary to his address Mr. Oosterhaus spoke about the District Kiwanis convention which will be held at Appleton, Aug. 9, 10 and 11. He assured his audience that the best talent of Kiwanis International will be represented at the various sessions of the convention and that suitable entertainment will also be provided for the wives and sweethearts of the visiting Kiwanians.

Taking as his theme "The Cost of Education" the speaker showed from a series of charts some interesting facts relative to the cost of education in comparison to other items of expenditure in the United States. One item of expenditure brings as large a return as does that put into education, he stated. Money put into education should be regarded not as an expense but as an investment, a national insurance for the better preparation of the citizenship of the country. The wisdom of the investment is born out by the fact that the cost of education is capacity that are characteristic of every section of this country. The money paid for the support of public education is usually paid in a lump sum as a portion of taxes and hence is more noticed than heavier contributions, made at different periods of time. School administrators should see to it that every dollar expended for education is bringing its proper return.

IMPROVE YARDS AROUND HOMES AT KAUKAUNA

Rock and Flower Gardens Increase in Number in That City

Kaukauna—Although no flower garden society was organized here this spring, great interest has been shown in raising flower gardens and in beautifying lawns. A number of rock gardens also have been built. Among the more attractive ones is a tormented rock garden recently completed by John Mitchell at his home on Division-st. The garden is situated in an ideal place on the side of a large hill. Cost of the garden was kept down by Mr. Mitchell as all the stones were taken from the bed of the Fox river canal. The garden has four terraces, which are interspersed with various shaped rocks, while two stone paths and steps lead down through it. At one end is a tiny lily pond filled with water plants. Birds are encouraged there by a birth bath.

Stone used in the rock garden built by Mr. and Mrs. William Hass at the home of Antonio Miller along Highway 41, near Rose Hill, was brought here from various parts of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, and Canada. The center of the garden is sunken, with growths of iris and ferns in the pool of water. The pool is surrounded by a stone walk and a four foot border of petunias. A stone path winds in and out of the garden while on the farther side is a stone hill with a natural effect.

Variety of Flowers
Around the path all varieties of perennials and annuals have been planted, so that flowers are in bloom all summer long. The entrance to the garden is made through a pretty lattice gate and the exit is through a rose arbor. Final work will be completed with a picket fence on the highway side.

With the work not yet completed, the lawn and flower garden of John Berkers at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Berkers, on Highway 41, promises to be one of the prettiest in the Fox river valley. A plot of ground adjacent to the home, measuring about 520 feet long and 50 feet wide, was converted into a fancy flower garden.

Bordering the outside of the plot of ground is a small, neatly trimmed hedge. The inside of the hedge is lined with roses and perennials. The ground has been piped and the water that is available at any time. There are several beds of flowers in the center of the garden and 60 evergreens line the rear part of the garden. Mr. Berkers has ordered 10,000 tulips from Holland of a variety that have not been raised here. The new tulips, which are reported to be twice the size and beauty of the common variety, will be planted in the garden. The landscape has already received favorable comments from numerous flower experts in this section of the state.

Bert Delbridge, a lover of flowers, and who makes the lawn about his house a veritable flower garden each year, has successfully raised a bed at flowers called rose-peonies. The flower resembles a small peony and smells like a rose. Mr. Delbridge also had an unusually fine lot of "bridal-wreath" flowers in bloom recently.

START PEA VINER NEAR WRIGHTSTOWN

BY W. F. WINSEY
Wrightstown—Ted Lamers started a pea viner of the Baker Canning company, Dundas, on his farm, Tuesday, and will keep it going until 60 acres of canning peas raised by his neighbors and himself are vined. He started the viner on 15 acres of peas raised by Peter Liebergan.

Mr. Lamers says that the pea crop is very good this summer in quality and yield. He has 13 acres that equal or surpass any crop of the kind he ever raised on his farm. All the viners of the Dundas company were expected to start on Tuesday.

All of the pea growers in the Dundas territory are using their pea crops as a nurse crop for alfalfa and sweet clover, according to Mr. Lamers. They are also hauling the pea vines home, feeding their vines to their cows in cases of a shortage of pasture, and making silage of the surplus. In case the growers have a surplus of pea vine silage they cover it with their silos with corn silage. According to Mr. Lamers, canning peas are a paying cash crop, a paying nurse crop for alfalfa and sweet clover, and a paying silage crop for dairy cattle.

FARMERS PURCHASE INTEREST IN BULL

Wrightstown Brothers to Use Pure-bred Animals to Head Herd

BY W. F. WINSEY
Wrightstown—Baumgartner Bros. have purchased a half interest in a purebred Guernsey herd sire to head their herd. The animal is a descendant of a branch of the breed that is famous for its records in the show ring and in milk and butterfat production.

Langwater Guide, No. 136,216, the newly acquired bull, is four years old and was bred by the Langwater Farms, Mass. He is a grandson of Langwater Warrior, imported, and Slogan's Lady Astor of Langwater, on his sire's side.

The brothers expect to exhibit a full show herd and the Northeastern fair this fall.

The brothers have six acres of soybeans about six inches tall in an excellent stand, sowed with a corn planter by straddling the rows at the rate of one and one-third-bushels per acre. They have dragged the crop twice crosswise of the rows, once before the beans were up and the second time when they were well above the surface. They say that soybeans must not be dragged on account of possible injury before the sprouts are considerably above the surface. Just before the beans are hardened and the leaves begin to change color and they expect to cut the crop with a grain binder, grind the crop in a hammer mill, and mix it with their dairy ration.

EXIT

SYNOPSIS: As Pierre Donovan plans to leave for dramatic school, Bruce Carey urges him to invest his money in a gold mine. He threatens to leave his wife, Ann, unless she will help persuade Pierre, a quarrel with her following Bruce's interruption of her advice to Pierre to reject his proposition. But when Bruce tells Pierre that Ann's fears were due to Pierre's refusal to invest in the scheme which, he says, would make them rich Pierre hands him the money - not knowing that his estranged father, Roy Donovan, Bruce's stepfather, is the promoter. Only when Bruce coldly bids his wife good-bye and starts on a trip for the bank for which he and Ann's father, Martin Bovis, work, does Pierre realize what he has done.

Chapter 19
MEASURED AFFECTION

THE front door slammed shut behind Bruce and Martin. Pierre stood as if stunned. Ann was bewildered and hurt by Bruce's manner but she attributed it to their quarrel because she had refused to help him in his plans to use Pierre's money. Pierre's manner also disturbed her but she thought that he was merely hurt by the lack of feeling in Bruce's farewell to him. She sought to comfort Pierre. "Don't mind, dear, Bruce simply forgot that you would be gone before he can get home in the morning."

"You think that is it, do you?" Pierre asked doubtfully. Ann looked at him questioning. "Why, of course. He will feel terribly when he remembers, I know him so well."

"I wonder if you do?" Ann, with increasing uneasiness tried to arouse Pierre from his mood. "Oh, come now Pierre, you know that Bruce is very fond of you. He is not very demonstrative, that is all - it's only his way."

"I wonder!" said Pierre again. "You won't forget us altogether, will you?" asked Ann, determined to lead his mind away from the painful incident "And you'll write once in a while?"

Pierre did not answer but stood looking at her. He was trying to find words to tell her what had happened, wondering what she would say when she knew, and trying to make himself believe that everything was all right in spite of his terrible apprehension. Ann, watching him, grew more troubled. "Pierre," she said at last, desperately, "Pierre, what is the matter?"

Aroused by her appeal, but unable yet to tell her that he had given his school money to Bruce, Pierre took refuge, as he often did, in burlesque acting. In his best stage manner he disclaimed: "My dearest Lady Ann, I was merely thinking what a wonderful thing it will be for you when your husband is a millionaire."

She laughed, greatly relieved to have Pierre assume his usual role. With exaggerated melodramatic voice and gestures, he cried, "And is it not written in the book of destiny that your husband shall be rich and powerful? And you, my mother?"

Pierre did not answer but she ran out of the room crying, "I'll bring a dress, then you'll see!"

As if obeying some instinct stronger than as will, Pierre drew close to the dress form. The fetterings of the scene through which he had just passed: Ann's thoughtless freedom in admitting him into the privacies of her dress; the actual contact with her person; her tacit acceptance of the never-before-acknowledged closeness of their relationship; all, had served to arouse in Pierre a love of which he had been hitherto conscious only as one might feel a beautiful and wholly impossible dream. His love had now become a hunger for her - a need which frightened him by its intensity. (Copyright, 1931, by D. Appleton and Co.)

Will Pierre's clowing hide his secret? Or will Ann's intuition dig up the truth tomorrow?

Prosecutor Strips Gang Chiefs Of Glamour, Shows Them As Cowardly Thugs

(Editor's Note: This is the second of four exclusive and copyrighted stories by Robert Thally, staff writer for NEA Service and Appleton Post-Crescent on how government officials at Chicago finally nailed Al Capone who, on a plea of guilty to the prohibition law, is being sentenced to 30 years in a federal penitentiary on June 30 for a $400,000 income tax fraud and 5000 violations of the prohibition law. The story today revealed that income tax investigators have found that Capone is now insolvent as the result of business depression and relentless federal prosecutions.)

BY ROBERT THALLY
Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc. Chicago—"You can't get Al Capone! . . . You can't get Al Capone!" For years that challenge rang in the ears of federal officials at Chicago as the nation's super-gangster, arrogant with the power that money brings, calmly multiplied his profits from liquor, gambling and vice without even bothering to file an income tax return much less pay on one. At the same time, he was operating all his huge enterprises in brazen defiance of the law.

Well they've got him now. And the federal prosecutor who has emerged from the situation as the nemesis of Chicago's desperate gangs and become a national figure thereby is probably just the opposite of what you would expect. Instead of being a fire-eating, hammer-and-tongs prosecuting attorney of the movie type he is a mild, middle-aged man of both ministerial mien and appearance, who likes amateur theatricals, has a garden and parts his hair in the middle.

He is U. S. District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson. By starting Capone on the road to Leavenworth Penitentiary to join his chief lieutenants who are already there or due to go soon, he has destroyed the boast of immunity that gangdom so long flaunted at law and order. In so doing, he has practically bankrupted Capone's outfit that dealt in millions and reduced the "Big Fellow" himself to the point where he is paying his wife's jewelry to raise money and is heavily in debt to friends.

Hasn't Lost Case
The facts about Johnson are simple: In his five years as federal district attorney at Chicago, he has never lost a big case. In addition to forcing a plea of guilty from Al Capone on income tax fraud and 5000 separate prohibition law violations, for which Capone now faces sentence on June 30, he recently convicted Capone in contempt of federal court and got him a sentence of six months in jail which still pends on appeal.

He smashed Capone's business organization by going after its chief lieutenants of income tax frauds. This record shows:

CONVICTED—Ralph Capone, brother of Al, and head of the gang's beer ring; sentenced to three years in penitentiary, now at liberty on appeal.

CONVICTED—Jack Guzik, head of the gang's gambling joints and vice-resorts; sentenced to five years, now appealed.

PLEADED GUILTY—Frank Nitti, gang's treasurer and head of the alcohol racket; now serving 18 months in Leavenworth.

As for the gangsters, he strips them of all their colorful glamour in these words:

"They are nothing but murderous mobs and they know they must live by the law of the tooth and fang. When robbed or betrayed, they invoke their own tribunal of death without a qualm. They have no recourse to any other. And yet—in print and out—glamour is thrown over these thugs by describing them as 'beer barons,' 'crime kings,' 'alky kings' and the like.

"Just Cowards"
"The most conspicuous and powerful men in gangdom are not bold Robin Hoods. They are cowards. And yet, over this coward and this purchaser of murder, glamour has been thrown. This is a menace."

Johnson does not agree with shallow thinkers who see in each gang member merely good riddance of bad rubbish. Unpunished gang murders breed contempt for law and enable a gang chief offering money to a professional killer for a murder to say: "Look how safe it is!"

Johnson has figured in a number of spectacular cases since he became district attorney, but one of the most aggressive was in January, 1929, when federal agents under his direction invaded and seized the whole town of Chicago Heights, a riotous suburb. Arriving at dawn they took over the city hall, the police station, jailed the police force and raided practically every house in town. They confiscated guns, rifles, ammunition, smashed liquor stills and breweries and made numerous arrests.

Chicago Heights was a gang stronghold. Prior to that raid the village had had 62 murders in five years. Since that raid it hasn't had any murders.

First a country school teacher and then a lawyer with a practice consisting almost entirely of civil cases, he gave up his $30,000-a-year practice five years ago to become federal district attorney at $10,000 a year. He got his appointment through Senator Deneen of Illinois and although Deneen was no longer in the Senate when Johnson's four-year term expired last year, President Hoover renamed him for another term.

He was born 57 years ago in Webster county, Iowa, where his father, John Johnson, settled after emigrating from Sweden. His father learned to speak English after arriving in this country. He was graduated from Lake Forest in 1900 and the same year he married and came to Chicago to practice law.

The is a unique story behind George E. Q. Johnson's name. He was christened just plain George Johnson. Among his Swedish neighbors in Iowa in those days there were a lot of "George Johnsons", so at an early age his father—a great admirer of Ralph Waldo Emerson—renamed him George Emerson Johnson to avoid confusion.

This got along very well until George E. Johnson came to Chicago and found the telephone book and city directory filled with other George E. Johnsons. Something had to be done about that, so to meet this situation he gave himself the additional initial 'Q' and thus became George E. Q. Johnson.

"What does it stand for?" he is often asked.

"Nothing," he replies, "except a saving of questions as to which George E. Johnson in Chicago you are looking for."

Grip Fails as Money Goes

Such is the man who has destroyed Chicago's gangdom's long boast of immunity from the law. It is possible that by doing this he has destroyed Capone's power forever, for once a supposedly powerful gang leader shows he is no longer able to defy the penitentiary his strength among his followers soon fades. If the "Big Shot" can't keep himself out of prison, what chance have they?

Already it has been told how Capone is now insolvent, according to income tax officials, as the result of the business depression and vigorous prosecution of his lieutenants. This, too, probably means Capone's doom as a leader because money—and money only—keeps a gang chief in power. Such things as loyalty and friendship are unknown. It is money—and money alone.

The absorbing story of how the income tax case against Capone was worked up by the secret service of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau will be told next.

8 PEOPLE DIE EACH MONTH BY POISONING

Madison —(P)—An average toll of eight lives a month is claimed by poisoning of Wisconsin residents, the state bureau of vital statistics, board of health, announced today.

Last year 92 persons died on this account, while for the first quarter of 1931, 27 persons have died. Gas deaths claim the largest numbers with carbon monoxide, coal gas, and illuminating gas as leading causes.

EXPERTS POINT OUT NEED FOR BETTER AIRMEN

French Aviators Criticize Operation of Planes by Amateurs

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris—Strong criticism of amateur airmen who, by their ignorance of the proper handling of planes court disaster, and appeals for more scientific flying have been expressed almost at the same time, but from different viewpoints by two distinguished French aviators, Louis Bleriot and Captain Thoret.

Bleriot, who says he expects to live to see commercial planes traveling at 500 miles an hour, goes so far as to predict that the day of the amateur owner-pilot is on the wane in almost every country.

And Thoret, one of the foremost of French glider pilots, says: "There are many persons piloting machine-driven airplanes today who really do not know how to fly, whose ideas of flight are as scanty as those of a rabbit compared with a bird. They are merely driving a motor through the air."

Bleriot, a pioneer of aviation and now a builder of highly efficient commercial machines, astonished his admirers by declaring that the small airplane for private touring purposes would never be universally practicable, at least in its present form. He said the risk was too great, due to the human factor.

Basic Idea Different

The whole basic idea of aircraft is misunderstood by the average person, who is liable to consider the little two-seater airplane in the same light as a car, he said.

"Flying is a job for the professional navigator, not for the person who wants to go out for a weekend jaunt. You would never place anyone but an experienced mariner in command of a ship, would you?"

"If people who would like to fly could see the waves, the swells, and the eddies of the air as well as they can see those of the sea, very few amateurs would risk flying just for pleasure."

Need Professional Care

Admitting that a certain number of amateurs were perfectly capable of looking after themselves in the air, Bleriot said they were exceptional. He considered that the future of civil aviation lay essentially on commercial lines, and even in the private "yacht," or an airplane owned by an individual, but manned and looked after by a pilot and a mechanic.

"A machine needs overhauling so meticulously and so often that the average person would be quite unable to cope with this side of the upkeep so as to insure perfect safety," he added. "A motor car may be neglected and driven badly, and yet run quite well, but not an airplane."

Twenty Years Ago

Bleriot won fame in July, 1909, when he flew from France to England, the first time the English Channel had ever been crossed by an airplane. The machine he flew that day is still in order, and only a few weeks ago he flew it himself to prove its worthiness. It is a small rickety-looking contraption with an open seat and a four-cylinder motor. "My old original machine," and those built some 20 years ago, were safer than those built at present for high speed," he explained. "One could land at about 20 miles an hour, almost like a falling leaf, but my original maximum speed was only about 40 miles an hour, which precluded flying in bad weather or against a really strong wind."

Captain Thoret was talking about gliding when he said that many airmen today really do not know how to fly. As an encouragement for the art of gliding he strongly supports the contest with a prize of $500 offered by the Daily Mail for the first glider flight from France to England and return.

"When Wilbur Wright many years ago tested his glider above the hills of Kitty Hawk he noticed that an ascending wind improved the duration and distance of his flights, but hardly had he perceived this elemental fact than he made the grave mistake of adding an engine to his glider," said Thoret, who is now attached to the French Air Ministry.

"By so doing, Wright assisted aviation, but delayed the ultimate triumph of the glider. There followed the wartime flying during which the pilots learned to perform prodigious feats with petrol-driven machines, but they did not learn how to fly. The Germans then set the example by going in wholeheartedly for gliding and they made some very fine flights."

Thrill of Gliding

"Gliding in the ascending currents of mountain valleys is far and away the finest sport imaginable. When you are soaring in the air without effort, lifted on your outspread wings by the single force of nature, you feel that you really have learned to fly—that to all intents and purposes you are a bird."

Thoret has glided for over nine hours in an ordinary machine with propeller stopped. On another occasion, with a seaplane fitted with two huge floats, weighing almost one ton, he flew, or rather glided, with engine dead, for three and a half hours over the mountains of Corsica, moving in a closed circle and at times reaching 1500 feet altitude. He has also performed some remarkable gliding feats over the Alps, and in more than 20 years of active flying has never sustained a scratch.

"I have made a deep study for years of air currents, and it is most fascinating, as well as being at the very root of the question of aerial locomotion. Gliding is not really difficult, but what one learns in flying without power is of immense value to the art of piloting."

"My skin was rough and pimply and would not respond to the many different treatments I tried. My friends recommended Resinol Soap and Ointment so I purchased some and was surprised after using one cake of soap and one jar of ointment to find it had cleared my skin. I believe Resinol Soap and Ointment have no equal." (Signed) Mary Cox, Vaucluse, Ga.

This simple treatment has changed a scarred, blotchy, seemingly hopeless skin into one that is clear, smooth and naturally healthy. It is the only skin remedy that is safe, effective and economical. For free sample write Resinol, Dept. 22, Baltimore, Md.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal cords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

When a lawyer makes a statement before a jury he backs it up with sound evidence and facts. Here are the facts.

Certain harsh irritants, present in all raw tobaccos—which are expelled by LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—are sold by us to manufacturers of chemical compounds. In other words, the removal of these irritants in the manufacture of LUCKY STRIKE is not a mere laboratory procedure for the purpose of getting an advertising phrase—it is a definite and vitally important process in rendering LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes less irritating than other cigarettes. Remember—LUCKY STRIKE comes to you after certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos have been expelled through the exclusive "TOASTING" Process. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.
